Mill Valley Voters Approve $3.5 Million School Bonds

30-Ballot Margin On First Vote Try

Mill Valley School District voters yesterday passed a $3.5 million bond measure with only 30 votes to spare.

Vote on the measure, the first time it was put to an election, was 3,065 yes, 1,487 no. With 66.7 per cent approval required, the measure passed with 67.4 per cent.

Of the 10,758 voters registered in the district, 4,552, or 42.3 per cent voted.

The measure will finance a "middle school" for 1,200 sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils, and begin improvements to existing schools.

The measure also will allow the district to replace most of the rented portable classrooms with permanent facilities. The portables now cost the district almost $50,000 a year.

The bonds will not require an increase in the tax rate because they replace bonds and loans now being retired.

Trustees Joyce R. Goss and M. James Norton Jr. opposed the measure on the ground that it would be economically and educationally unsound to maintain all eight existing schools.

Passage of the measure, commented Dr. James A. Collins, new superintendent, "shows real support from the community for the schools." The "middle school," he said, "will be a real school for tomorrow.

Passage also was "a real tribute to the leadership of Bob McConnell," he said. Supt. G. R. McConnell will leave the district at the end of this month to work full time on his doctorate.

Although the Mill Valley bonds passed, they received endorsement of only about 28 per cent of the electorate, because of the relatively small turnout. Last week in Tomales High School District, 56 per cent of the total electorate voted for a bond issue, but it failed by two votes to achieve the necessary two-thirds approval of those voting. The turnout in Tomales was almost exactly double that in Mill Valley—85 per cent of the registered voters compared with 42.3 per cent.

Police Chief's Mother-In-Law Struck By Car

Lena Marie de Matei, mother-in-law of San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, was critically injured at 11:05 a.m. today when she was struck by a car at Fifth and Lincoln avenues, San Rafael.

Mrs. De Matei, of 45 San Rafael Drive, San Rafael, was admitted to the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with head and back injuries.

Patrolman Gilbert F. Freitas said Mrs. De Matei was hit by a car driven by Louise Braines Stephen, 77, of 11 Elm Street, San Rafael, making a left turn from the eastbound lane of Fifth onto Lincoln.

Freitas said Mrs. Stephen apparently did not see Mrs. De Matei, who was hit while in the crosswalk and carried 40 to 45 feet on the hood of the car.

News Readers, Smokers Face Tax Bites

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan accused a Senate committee today of "a little bit of gimmickry" in rewriting his tax increase and said its new version hurts low income Californians.

The Republican governor called newsmen together shortly after the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee sent its $872 million version of his tax increase on to another committee.

He said he was "gratified" by the committee's decision to accept his acceleration of income tax collections — twice-a-year installment payments to produce enough money to meet an expected December cash shortage. That was his answer to withholding of personal income taxes.

But he said he was "greatly disturbed" at the major revisions the committee made in other sections of the bill, which had totaled more than $1 billion.

He hurled the "gimmickry" charge at the committee's plan to impose a flat 50 per cent increase, or surtax, on the state income tax paid this year. That replaced Reagan's own $385 million income tax hike, which hit hardest at middle and high income taxpayers.

Reagan said the surtax "smacks a little bit of gimmickry" because it must be renewed each year.

He laso criticized the committee's decision to extend the sales tax to such consumer items as prescription drugs, magazines and newspapers and school cafeteria meals, and said their version will hurt the farmer by imposing the sales tax on feed, seeds and other agricultural needs.

And he said he didn't like the committee's decision to abandon his plans for direct property tax relief.

Reagan said "the end result of all this juggling comes out $21 million short" of balancing his record $5.06 billion budget

Escape Plot Told In Knife Trial

By ROSS DAVIS

A trial which involved an escape plot by San Quentin inmate witnesses, a prison melee of fisticuffs with guards, and courtroom profanity ended in Marin Superior Court early today in a hung jury.

The nine-woman, three-man panel deliberated over eight hours before announcing it could not agree on whether prison inmate Arthur L. Richmond was guilty of illegal possession of a knife on Jan. 2.

Judge Harold J. Haley dismissed the jury after noting there was no "reasonable probability" of agreement.

He earlier had requested the press to withhold reporting the escape plan lest it prejudice the jury.

The plot came to light last Thursday when Judge Haley was told that San Quentin guards intercepted notes at the prison by inmate-witnesses hoping to use the opportunity of being taken to the courtroom to make a break.

Concerned about security measures in the presence of the jury, the judge sent the jurors from the courtroom, then heard testimony of San Quentin Lt. W. A. Wagner, in charge of transporting the inmates to the courthouse.

Wagner said the notes were found the previous day.

Also, he testified, inmate-witness William A. Christmas was found in possession of a knife the day before he was to testify—the same offense for which Richmond was on trial.

Wagner said six of the 18 convict witnesses for the defense were maximum security prisoners — potential trouble makers.

He advised Judge Haley that two of the men, both serving time for murder, should be kept in waist-chairs and connected

Gangs Sweep Cincinnati; Tampa Jittery

COMBINED AP & UPI

A ruling of "justifiable homicide" in the Negro death that sparked major Tampa, Fla., race riots today caused authorities to fear renewed violence, and in Cincinnati, Ohio, 800 National Guardsmen with machine guns and bayonets today reinforced 800 weary police against "huge bands of maurauders."

Florida State Atty. Paul Antinori's ruling that Patrolman Kames R. Calvert's Sunday night slaying of fleeing burglary suspect Martin Chambers, 19, was justifiable, had been kept secret since yesterday, at the request of Florida Gov. Claude Kirk.

Last night's Tampa violence was less than Sunday and Monday night episodes, but new stores were looted and 15 fires were set, although National Guard and police reinforcements kept to their headquarters and off the streets to reduce tension.

Police restored an uneasy order in Cincinnati Negro neighhoods today after hit-and-run gangs caused more than $1 million damages in two nights of rioting.

Two major fires burned an estimated $800,000 at a warehouse and laundry early today, 40 persons were arrested and 100 injured, as 100 smaller fires were set.

City officials still had not been

No End In Sight On Two Strikes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A walkout of 25,000 union warehousemen from Bakersfield to Oregon moved into its third day today with negotiators noncommittal as to chances of settlement.

Representatives of the striking Teamsters and International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union huddled with management negotiators Tuesday and today but declined comment on the talks.

A second major San Francisco Bay Area strike left 1,350 workers idle at the big California and Hawaiian Sugar Co. refinery at Crockett. A spokesman for the nearly 1,200 members of the Sugar Workers Union said no negotiating sessions have been scheduled.

November Ballot On Fairfax Bond

Fairfax City Council has set Nov. 14 as the tentative date for voting on a bond issue to finance the city hall, police and fire facilities.

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo said yesterday legal formalities must be started beginning with a formal resolution setting a definite date. This is expected at a special meeting of the city council Monday.

Actual amount of the bond issue will not be known until the study of reports, including one from an achitect who has yet to be hired, he said.

SIRENS AND BOMBS

First Bay Refugee Returns From Israel

By BRUCE COLEMAN

A Novato woman, the first Bay Area refugee to return from the Israeli war zone, today related how she was traveling in a car en route to the airport when war broke out.

"I was on my way from Haifa to the Tel Aviv airport with Archbishop George Hakim," said Mrs. Mary Frances Goerndt. She was leaving Israel but, at the time, had no idea that war was about to commence.

"Suddenly," she said, "we heard sirens blasting and found people milling around the streets in panic.

CAR RADIO

"We turned on the car radio and learned that the country was at war. This was at 7 a.m., June 5.

"The archbishop pushed right through the police, the religious flag on his car flying, and took me to the airport."

Mrs. Goerndt, 41, boarded the last Trans World Airlines jet to leave Tel Aviv. The plane was only about half-loaded with refugees since it left an hour early.

"I learned later in Rome that 15 minutes after out plane took off the airport was bombed," she said. Asked if she were frigntened, she said softly, "yes."

FOUR WEEKS

Mrs. Goerndt had spent four weeks in Israel, one leg of an around-the-world tour.

She was a guest in Haifa of Hakim, archbishop of Galilee. Mrs. Goerndt met Hakim in 1964 while the religious leader was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brindel in Novato.

Hakim is head of 25,000 Melkite Catholics in Israel. They are Christian Arabs.

Describing events leading up to the war, Mrs. Goerndt said, "Everyone became very tense when Nasser closed Aqaba Strait . . . There was talk that there would be a war, "But, after two weeks passed, we did not feel Nasser would attack. We did not feel Israel would attack."

In Rome, Mrs. Goerndt was housed at Salvatore Mundi International Hospital, operated by the Salvatorian Sisters.

Later she learned from Hakim that St. Anne's Church,

Senators Reject Bagley's Tax Appraiser Cleanup

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill revamping California's inheritance tax appraisal system and eliminating political patronage from it was killed today by a Senate committee.

The Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee by a divided voice vote rejected a motion to approve the measure which had passed the Assembly, 58-16.

The bill was backed by Republican Controller Houston I. Flournoy, who said the state can "no longer tolerate this kind of sore on the body politic in the state of California."

The controller's office currently appoints inheritance tax appraisers. Flournoy says this system leads to political patronage.

The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman William Bagley, R-San Rafael, would have set up a civil service system for appraisers.

He said some appointed appraisers now earn as much as $60,000 a year in fees for appraising estates. He said the bill would save California estates and heirs $2.7 million in fees.

Fees now total about $4 million, Bagley said.

The bill was opposed by the State Bar Association and by the Association of County Treasurers.

$32,500 In Spoiled Milk Damages Asked

Two San Rafael families have asked a total of $32,500 damages from the County of Marin because the county health department failed to put out prompt notice about source of bad milk distributed in April by a Sonoma County dairy.

Both families claim children became ill from drinking the milk.

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Welsh of 100 Dubois Avenue and children Linda Christina, David Bryan and Mary Welsh have asked a total $25,000. Peter Meyer of 9 Eucalypus Street asked a total $7,500 on behalf of his children, Paul and Jeffrey Meyer.

Both claims declared that illness could have been avoided had the county given prompt warning of the bad milk distributor by Meadowsweet Dairy. Announcement was delayed until the end of the week of April 29 although persons in both Sonoma and Marin county became ill early in the week. Identity of the dairy was not given until the following week.

County supervisors yesterday denied both claims.

Governor To Sign Abortion Measure

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he will sign a bill making California the third state this year to liberalize its abortion law despite his view that the legislation "is by no means perfect."

"I will sign the bill even though it does not meet each and every objection that I and others in California have to it," Reagan said in a formal statement issued late yesterday.

The announcement ended speculation touched off earlier in the day when the Governor refused to tell a news conference if he would sign or veto the measure by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills.

Reagan's statement overshadowed final legislative enactment of the emotional bill. The Assembly passed the measure yesterday by a 48-30 vote. Among those voting for the bill was Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. A week ago the Senate approved it 21-17.

Because the measure was not amended in the lower house, it went directly to the governor.

The bill is similar to abortion laws enacted in Colorado and North Carolina this year. But it is probably less liberal than the other two statutes. It does not permit abortions in cases where the child is in danger of being born with a grave physical or mental deformity.

The California act legalizes abortions when bearing the child would endanger the physical or mental health of the mother; in cases of statutory rape involving a girl under 15; and when pregnancy resulted from forcible rape or incest, regardless of the mother's age.

Present law allows abortion only to save the mother's life.

Beilenson's original bill would have also legalized abortions to prevent the birth of handicapped children. But the section was removed when Reagan complained it was "only a step away from what Hitler tried to do."

At his news conference yesterday, the Governor raised a number of new objections to the bill. He said he had "just discovered" some "loopholes" although the bill has been in its final form for more than two weeks.

The new act will take effect 90 days after adjournment of this session of the legislature, probably sometime in October.

Soviets First To Use Hotline On Mideast

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and his top advisers decided to use the Washington-Moscow hotline in the Middle East crisis because they felt the situation could lead to general war, Russian diplomatic sources said today.

They added that the Soviet leaders were quite aware their using the direct teleprinter line between the Kremlin and the Pentagon might be revealed by the Johnson administration — along with the details on who resorted to it first.

PEACE MOTIVE

World peace was Russia's overriding concern, the sources said, and any propaganda advantage that might be risked in being the first to use the nearly four-year old emergency hookup was disregarded.

They dismissed as unfounded some speculation that Kosygin was annoyed by Washington's disclosure of the exchange.

The White House disclosed late last week that the first message of state ever sent over the hotline was transmitted by the Russians on June 5. The United States replied the same day.

OTHER MESSAGES

An unspecified number of additional hotline exchanges took place during the week, U.S. officials said, including a U.S.-originated message dealing with the Israeli attack on the American communications ship Liberty.

President Johnson and Llewellen E. Thompson, U.S. ambassador to Russia, told newsmen here that their use of the hotline to message Moscow last week was prompted by the desire to communicate the position of the United States on the Arab-Israeli conflict quickly and efficiently in writing.

Johnson, who stressed that the message exchange did not involve voice communication with Kosygin, added that he did not know how important the time saved by using the hotline actually was.

They will fly from Atlantic City of Oakland, today—Flag Day—carrying a big American flag.

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — Giovanna Agusta, daugnter of a wealthy Milan manufacturer, has won a four-month legal battle and the right to wed Brazilian Negro soccer star Jose Germano.

The Liege Court of Appeals ruled yesterday there was no obstacle to the wedding.

Germano, 24, plays for a top Belgian soccer team in Liege. Giovanna, whom he met in Milan four years ago, came to Liege in February.

The family of Count Domenico Agusta, a motor cycle and helicopter tycoon, followed her to Liege and pleaded with the girl to give up Germano.

GREENHOUSE BUILDER NOW IN DOGHOUSE

ROCHESTER, England (UPI) — Every night when Mrs. Joan Lee returned home after walking the dog, she carried a brick in one hand.

She was only five bricks short of the target 500 needed to build a greenhouse when police stepped in yesterday and charged her with stealing them.

The charge accused her of taking five bricks valued at 42 cents each from a building site near the Lee home. Mrs. Lee said she thought the bricks had been abandoned.

She was fined $14 and the brick company said it would come around and collect the 495 bricks at the Lee home.

Guerrillas Invade Viet Delta Village

The attack was one of several deep in the delta near Can Tho during the night. They occurred near the Cambodian border in an area where the Viet Cong control vast areas of the countryside by night.

Ground action was light outside the delta, the U.S. Command reported. In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. pilots reported six more MIGs probably destroyed on the ground in the ninth attack on the Kep air base north of Hanoi and widespread destruction to supply lines extending from Hanoi and Haiphong.

The heavy Viet Cong attack in the delta fell on two adjoining hamlets 110 miles southwest of Saigon. While one was being raked by mortar fire, perhaps as a diversion, guerrillas smashed into the neighboring Tri Tai refugee hamlet.

A company of about 120 militia defended the second village. They hastily called for artillery support and for the U.S. Dragon Ship planes that nightly circle the delta to provide flares and Gatling gun support for embattled outposts.

A Vietnamese spokesman said 19 civilians were killed, 41 were wounded and the militia suffered heavy casualties, a term that means at least 20 were killed or wounded.

More guerrillas hit a South Vietnamese training center at Tan An, about 25 miles away. Once again Dragon Ships dropped flares and strafed the attackers with Gatling guns, and the attack was beaten off.

Light fighting around Pleiku cost one U.S. Air Force Supersabre jet which dove into the ground, probably after being hit by guerrilla fire. The pilot was killed. It was the 185th combat plane downed by hostile action in South Vietnam.

Bruce Seeks To Ease Blow On Courthouse

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce today recommended that $363,388 be added to the Marin property tax bill next fiscal year, because of failure to sell the courthouse square yesterday.

Bruce announced new assessed valuation figures which he said meant the tax rate would not have to be increased by 8 cents per $100 assessed valuation to make up the payments on the Civic Center, as estimated yesterday.

He said assessed valuation would go up 11.3 per cent rather than the 8.3 per cent estimated by County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel last month.

The new assessment figures will help hold down the rate, but will not lessen the increase in the total tax bill to property owners.

New assessment total is $535,725,988, including both the secured and unsecured property and public utilities. This is considerably above the $522,101,000 estimated by the assessor four weeks ago.

Broemmel was not available for comment today, but Asst. County Assessor Herschel Johnson confirmed the new figure.

Kosygin May Lead Arabs' U.N. Drive

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Soviet Union has called for a special meeting of the United Nations General Assembly to launch one of the fiercest propaganda campaigns in years but without risking a major confrontation with the United States, diplomatic sources said today in London.

Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin is expected to come to New York to lead the campaign.

France threw its support today to the Soviet move to call the session which the Russians hope will condemn Israel and demand it withdraw from territories captured from the Arabs last week. France has taken a stand of strict neutrality in the Mideast and criticized the U.S. and Britain for being too pro-Israel.

The U.N. Security Council met in another emergency session in New York today and heard an appeal from Britain's Lord Caradon that it consider appointment of a mediator to start peace talks directly between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

And in Luxembourg Secretary of State Dean Rusk was said to have told the NATO foreign ministers he felt a lasting solution would be found only through direct Israeli-Arab negotiations. The Israelis have demanded such talks; the Arabs refuse point blank.

Israel's viewpoint is that United Nations arbitration after the wars of 1948 and 1956 did nothing to ease the Mideast crisis and that the Arabs this time must sign a peace treaty after their third disastrous defeat. Israel has made it clear it will give up no territory it considers essential for its security.

The Security Council today rejected a Soviet resolution demanding condemnation of Israel and withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab territory overrun in last week's war.

In separate votes, the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Mali and India supported a call for Israel's condemnation and these four countries were joined by Nigeria and Ethiopia in supporting a call for withdrawal of Israeli troops.

The Soviet Union had demanded a quick vote on its resolution to clear the decks for action on Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's demand for an emergency session of the General Assembly to take up anti-Israeli action in the Middle East crisis.

Banker Sued To Foreclose Mortgages

Charles Tijerina, who resigned as chairman of the board of Tiburon National Bank last February, has been sued in Marin Superior Court to foreclose mortgages to meet a near $800,000 in loans by three other banks.

The suit alleges that Tijerina, of Belvedere, gave a promissory note Dec. 23, 1965, to United California Bank for $400,000, a note for $250,000 to Wells Fargo Bank Nov. 18, 1965, and notes for $200,000 and $63,402.28 on Feb. 13, 1967, and Nov. 21, 1966, to Pacific National Bank of San Francisco.

Past due to the three banks, is a still unpaid total of $793,749.15, the complaint declares. It states that Tijerina put up parcels of lands in Belvedere, Mill Valley and Tiburon as security for the loans, and asks the court to order foreclosing of the mortgages.

The suit by the three banks also seeks public sale of the property, with the mortgages to be paid from the proceeds.

James R. Madison, attorney for the plaintiffs, said he did not know if the loans were connected with the Tiburon bank, which since has been purchased by Sierra National Bank.

Mariner 5 Follows Russ Venus Probe

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— The United States entered the race to Venus today by giving its Mariner 5 space robot a "superb" sendoff on a four-month voyage to get an electronic glimpse of the planet that may hide life under a murky cloud blanket.

The 540-pound mechanical explorer set out on the interplanetary endurance run two days behind a larger Russian probe, but still may be in the running to get there first.

If Mariner 5 successfully follows its curving 212.5-million-mile course, it will fly within 2,000 miles of Venus Oct. 19 and then arc around its backside, radioing its findings back to earth.

Mariner 5 is not equipped to look for Venusian life, but may add fuel to the growing scientific controversy over whether plants or animals can exist on the planet.

The prime goal of the probe's delicate instruments is to determine the thickness of the dense atmosphere that masks the planet's surface and to help clear up some of the mysteries of the bright evening star that have baffled astronomers for centuries.

Record Arms Budget Gets 407-1 Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has approved a record $70.3 billion military budget for fiscal 1968, but not before one Congressmen suggested the United States ask Israel for a few tips on how to win a war.

Both "hawks" and "doves" took turns expressing dissatisfaction with the Administration's strategy in Vietnam yesterday before approving the defense appropriations bill on a 407-1 vote.

Rep. Robert Sikes, D-Fla., condemning U.S. military policy in Vietnam, said the United States could learn some lessons from the amazing success of Israeli forces in last week's Middle East conflict.

Rep. George Andrews, D-Ala., said if the United States "continues to fight in Vietnam as it has for the past six years, it will be in Vietnam for another 20 years.

Warrents Asked In Grand Theft

San Rafael police today asked the Marin County district attorney for warrants charging Stephen William Scanlon of 1563 Lincoln Avenue and Thomas Arthur Goldberg of 55 Fairfax Street with grant theft and embezzlement.

The two are sought in the disappearance of $4,007.23 from a safe at the Regal service station at 1011 Lincoln Avenue. Scanlon, who was station manager, and Goldberg disappeared after 2 a.m. Sunday when they were seen at the station.

An audit was taken after district manager Gerald W. Hifner found Scanlon failed to show up for work Monday. The station's safe was opened and found empty.

Gate Rammed

Vandals last weekend used a vehicle to ram a gate at a Marin Municipal Water District site on Manuel T. Freitas Parkway, San Rafael, tore down 15 feet of fence, and smashed two water meters, causing damage estimated at $650, according to police.

Escape Plot Told During Knife Trial

handcuffs during their testimony. This was done.

Besides a heavy prison guard, the sheriff's department had several officers in civilian clothes both inside the courtroom and in the hallway during the remainder of the trial.

Discovery of the knife came one week after Acting Warden Louis S. Nelson announced to the prisoners that any inmate found with a weapon would be stripped of privileges and confined to his cell for a year.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said that before that drastic action could be taken against Christmas, the prison's disciplinary committee would hold a hearing on the knife charge.

Christmas, who testified Thursday, was first of 18 prisoners who attempted to establish that Richmond was "framed" by guards with the knife possession charge.

Prosecuter Jerry Herman, deputy district attorney, said the melee between guards and inmate-witnesses occurred that same evening at the prison.

Seven inmates — W. D. Nolen, serving time for armed robbery; George Jackson, second degree robbery; Benton Burt, assault with a deadly weapon: Nathaniel Boothe, second degree robbery, James Johnson, armed robbery, kidnapping and burglary; Wilson King, armed robbery, and William Beauford, burglary and grand theft — were returned from the courthouse and moved through the prison's main gate by seven guards about 5:45 p.m., he said.

As their chains were removed prior to moving them through a second gate. Burt demanded that they be taken directly to the dining hall for dinner. The request was refused.

As Officer E. F. Ziemer attempted to move Burt toward the gate, Burt struggled, according to the report. Eight more officers were quickly summoned.

Sgt. E. A. Blair warned Nolen to move back. Instead Nolen struck him in the face, a prison report related.

A five-minute melee, described in the report as a "fierce fight," followed with King and Beauford not participating, the report said.

After guards quelled the seven inmates, all the latter except Jackson and the guards required treatment for cuts and bruises.

Guard W. J. LaBar was relieved of duty ond sent home because of a right knee injury, according to the report.

At request of Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, prison officials withheld information about the fight lest it prejudice the trial.

Associate Warden Park said the prisoners involved in the fight would go before the prison disciplinary committee today. "We feel this was premeditated, a planned thing on their part in an attempt to influence the trial," Park said.

Herman said the profanity occurred the first day of the trial when Richmond loudly called Herman a dirty name. Admonished by the judge, Richmond turned on Judge Haley and cursed him.

District Attorney Bales said today he had not decided whether to seek a second trial on the knife charge for Richmond, who is serving one year to life for robbery and a crime against nature. Richmond was represented in the trial by Public Defender Jerome Durham.

Night Horse Racing Passes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Without even bothering to hear from supporting witnesses, a Senate committee approved today an Assembly-passed bill to permit night horse racing in California.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, also would extend racing dates in California and permit racing meets to be held in Northern and Southern California at the same time.

The Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee heard Moretti explain the bill briefly, listened to opposition witnesses — mostly clergymen — for half an hour and then sent the bill to the Senate Finance Committee for further screening.

Fire Zone Session

The San Rafael Fire Commission will hold a special meeting in ity Hall at 7:30 p.m. today to consider the fire zoning of Quail Hill Asst. City Mgr. John T. Goodale said today.

TAX

request, not counting appropriations tacked on later by the Assembly. He threatened to use his "blue pencil" to cut budget items not financed by taxes.

Instead, it called for a flat 50 per cent increase, or surtax, on the amount of taxes paid this year. That would bring in $262 million.

And the senators dropped Reagan's plan for $120 million in direct property tax relief, substituting $122 million in aid to local governments to use as they see fit. They said four cents of the additional proposed seven-cent cigarette tax should go to state keeping three, on top at the three cents now levied.

The committee trimmed his request for a one cent increase in the present four cent sales tax down to a half cent hike. It would bring in $187 million, compared to the $375 million sought by Reagan.

Consumers would still be hit by the senators' version. Among the committee's consumer tax proposals:

In addition to sharing in the cigarette tax, cities and counties would have a slice of the money from the gas and electric sales tax and from the elimination of the sales tax exemptions.

The bill also provides money for $50 million in additional local school aid — far less than sought by educators and Assembly leaders.

RIOTING

able to pinpoint the cause of the rioting. No particular unrest had been reported before rioting erupted Monday night.

Shortly before order was restored, Police Chief Jacob Schott said "huge bands of marauders" were hitting in almost every direction in predominantly Negro areas.

Elsewhere, 100 policemen were rushed to a Los Angeles fire when Negroes hurled rocks and bricks at firemen on the fringes of Watts, and sporadic firebombing and looting continued in beleagured Tampa, Fla.

Black power champion Stokely Carmichael led a line of 200 to 300 Negroes in a march on the Alabama capitol at Montgomery but the march was orderly and there were no incidents.

There also were incidents at Youngstown, Ohio, where small bands of youths roamed Negro neighborhoods shouting "black power," and at Newark, N.J., where jeering Negroes shouted down city officials at a meeting.

RETURN

the oldest structure of the Byzantine rite, and the White Fathers Seminary in Haifa were bombed.

Mrs. Goerndt also visited Arab states of Egypt, Lebanon and Jordan, and claims she changed her mind about a previous conception of the Arabs.

"Before my trip I didn't think of them as warm, hospitable people, but as being barbaric . . . "I visited Arab villages with the archbishop and found the people to be bery poor but as people who offer you everything."

The Israeli Arabs, she said, are now on curfew and, if they travel one-half hour away, must tell where they are going and why.

Mrs. Goerndt, who lives with her husband, Harold W. Goerndt, chief civil defense deputy in the sheriff's office, and three children at 675 Bugeia Lane, made a plea that Christian churches in the United States "do something to relieve the sufferings of Israeli Christians."

She also said she wished to stress that prior to the outbreak in Israel, the Arab people were very cooperative and law-abiding.

Mrs. Goerndt cut her trip short following the war, returning home last night.

Water District Budget Advanced

A preliminary budget for fiscal 1968 which calls for expenditures of $436,080 against an income of $736,440 was approved last night by the North Marin County Water District Board.

This calls for $94,150 more in income than the $624,294 current budget.

In addition to the operating budget, there is a capital improvements program of $171,270 which will come from the bond money voted in 1958.

However, the board voted to reduce the water rate by 26 cents minimum charge per month, from $2.25 to $2.

Marin Sets Mental Cut Watchdogs

A watchdog committee of 28 volunteers has been set up to observe the effect of proposed mental hospital staff reductions on Marin patients at Mendocino, Sonoma and Napa State hospitals.

Known as Marinites Interested in the Mentally Ill (MIMI), the committee will work in teams of three members, visiting each of the hospitals on the regular schedule. The committee will meet monthly to discuss findings and prepare recommendations.

The volunteers have been brought together by the Marin Association for Mental Health and held their first meeting Monday. President is Mrs. Larry Mishkind, president of the association. Rev. John Thornton of the Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito, was elected chairman.

Mrs. Mishkind said the primary purpose of the committee was to inspect wards at the hospitals to determine whether adequate staff was employed to provide progressive care.

"It will also study the implications for Marin County and the need for expansion of local treatment facilities," she said.

Committee members were told that 529 Marin residents were admitted to the three state hospitals during the past year. The county's rate of admissions was among the highest in California, she said.

Supervisors Renew Fairgrounds Debate

The Marin County Board of Supervisors renewed debate over management of the proposed auditorium and fairgrounds at the Civic Center yesterday when presented plans for a corporation to run the complex.

Submitted by the ad hoc fairgrounds committee were by-laws and articles of incorporation for the Foundation for Art, Industry and Recreation in Marin, a proposed non-profit, autonomous body which supervisors asked be created last fall after long debate.

Supervisors seemed in general agreement with Administrator Alan Bruce, who recommended the seven directors be elected at an annual meeting of corporation members confirmed by the supervisors. But W. P. Duhamel of San Anselmo, a member of the ad hoc committee, urged the supervisors take command of the fairgrounds.

Bruce and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who helped the committee draw the corporation by-laws, said the supervisors could choose an alternate plan under which the board would pick seven of 14 directors nominated by corporation members, and would have the right to pass on any by-law amendments approved by directors and the option to discontinue land contracts under which the corporation would operate the fair.

This was supported by Bruce McKenzie, committee chairman, and Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who said:

"We should express confidence in citizens who have spent 14 or 15 meetings putting things together. Things can be adjusted if they don't work."

Action on Bruce's recommendation was postponed, however, until 1:45 p.m. June 27 at the request of Supervisor John F. McInnis, who said he needed more time to study the by-laws.

Corporation members would include representatives of 92 business, civic, fraternal, veterans and professional groups.

The 15-member ad hoc committee was established last October to work out fair management after new state money was uncovered for the project. Besides the auditorium, to cost over $3 million and to be called the Veterans Memorial Auditorium and Fair Building, a lagoon, heliport, restaurant and museums are planned for the fairgrounds.

Driver Gets Jail

Frederick Aaron Sikes, 22, of 32 Front Street, San Rafael, was given three days in county jail and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. San Rafael police arrested him Jan. 22 on Lincoln Avenue.

Assault Count Hearing Held

Wesley Alvin Lynch, 23, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of assault with a deadly weapon and scheduled to enter plea at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Lynch, of North Sacramento, allegedly assaulted William Morris Lawson in San Rafael last Sunday. San Rafael police arrested him.

According to San Rafael police, Lawson, who is manager of an apartment house at 355 Canal Street, was attacked by Lynch with a broken bottle and suffered minor cuts.

No charge was preferred at the time, but in the courtyard outside the house, Lynch became abusive and was arrested for disturbing the peace. The assault charge was filed later.

Churchmen Plan Tour Of Vietnam

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The president of the American Council of Christian Churches said yesterday he would lead a delegation of "Churchmen For Victory in Vietnam" to that war-torn country later this month.

Dr. Marion H. Reynolds of Los Angeles said the delegation's purpose would be "to encourage our fighting men to know that there are many churchmen in the United States who support them in this conflict against the atheistic Communist aggressors and to assure them of our prayers."

Better 'Facts Of Life' Curriculum Wins Board Of Education Backing

San Rafael Board of Education last night agreed to form a committee to develope an expanded health education curriculum including sex education.

The San Rafael Council of Parents and Teachers requested the program to include "an increasing emphasis on human growth and development information, including reproduction."

Mrs. E. J. Wasp, parent of family life education chairman for the council, presented the request.

"We found out that though the schools teach a certain amount of human growth and development, no sizeable number of students, especially in the high schools, receives much information on human reproduction," she reported.

After the board approved formation of a committee on curriculum, Board Member Herman L. Childress said, "I hope everyone realizes this will not take the place of home, but is only a supplement."

Supt. John F. Plank said the schools are already "doing something, but this will be an extension and enrichment."

The board heard a presentation from Don J. Wiffin of Terra Linda High School and Edward L. Cunningham of San Rafael High School on the role of department chairmen in high schools, and a request that all department chairmen have their teaching loads reduced by one class per day next year.

With 25 department chairmen in the two high schools, this would require five additional teachers, at a cost of about $40,000 for the year.

The department chairmen also requested that the extra-pay schedule for department chairmen be reconsidered for the 1968-69 school year. It calls for $300 a year in addition to the regular salary schedule plus $10 for each teacher in the department and $15 for each "probationary" teacher.

Board members agreed to discuss the request at their July 11 meeting.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

The Student Driver Policy Is Criticized

San Rafael Board of Education members agreed last night that the schools don't provide parking spaces just to accommodate student drivers.

The board noted that parking is provided for other purposes such as "adult education, the public and the faculty."

Members' comments came after Mrs. Lee Cadwallader of 576 Appleberry Drive asked about the need for students to drive and the board's policy on providing parking space.

She referred to comments by Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. last month that most students don't need to drive to school and that school policy in Marin is encouraging student driving.

Forty years ago, the congressional district which included San Diego and Imperial Counties adjoined the district which included Siskiyou and Modoc Counties.

Two Escapers' Parole Plea Denied For Year

Parole has been denied two San Quentin prisoners who have reputations for escaping from confinement.

Consideration of parole for convicted robber Donald Padgett, 33, and narcotics offender Thomas A. Buckley, 28, has been pput over until May, 1968, by the Adult Authority.

Padgett went over the wall Aug. 11, 1965 in a spectacular escape that made headlines. He and escape partner Harold Roney made a 12-foot hook out of a piece of pipe and pulled themselves to freedom while a guard was diverted by a mysterious phone call.

He was caught four months later. Convicted in Alameda County of theft and burglary, Padgett once walked away from the Santa Rita Prison Farm in Alameda County.

Buckley, too, has had a brief taste of freedom. He went over the fence from the prison ranch Sept. 16, 1964 and, with fellow prisoner Burton S. Kayman, stole a car from a San Rafael resident.

He had been at work in the construction dormitory outside the prison walls for two months when he escaped.

Death Penalty Banning Urged

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Oregon Gov. Thomas McCall urged other states yesterday to follow Oregon's lead and abolish the death penalty.

Addressing members of the National Institute on Crime and Delinquency, McCall said, "repeal of this penalty for murder in the first-degree was effected by Oregon voters in 1964 and that's the way we hope it stays."

California Gov. Ronald Reagan had told delegates on Monday that he strongly favored the death penalty.

McCall drew applause when he told delegates his state's budget "does not have a single dollar for cell blocks."

Planners Get New Guideline On Variances

San Rafael planning commissioners—faced with a flood of requests for variances to legitimize construction done without permits in private yards — 8 were given a manual to guide them last night.

On presenting the report, City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner told commissioners that recent field inspections by the building department had uncovered numerous tool sheds, lanais, playhouses and sunscreens built without permits.

Commissioners promptly set June 21 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall for a special study session on the technical manual, which will assist them in handling variance requests and in possible amendments to the zoning ordinance.

They also postponed to their June 27 regular meeting action on three such variance requests: from Lowell Bader for a tool shed behind his home at 46 Terra Linda Drive; from Joseph Gratianne for a tool shed at 748 Tamarack Drive.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

APARTMENTS — Approved architectural plans and a variance for Sawyer and Dittman for 10 apartments at 211 G Street, instead of nine. The development fell 42 square feet short of the 10,000 square feet of lot required.

AUTO BUSINESS — Approved architectural plans and a use permit for Francisco Associates for a new and used car lot and improvement of a warehouse for office and storage at 625 Grand Avenue.

BOARDING HOUSE — Approved a one-year use permit for a boarding house for Mrs. Francis M. King at 812 D Street, to accommodate no more than 10 persons.

MONTECITO — Approved architectural plans for a new facade on the part of Montecito Shopping Center adjacent to the new Montecito Plaza, to harmonize appearance of old and new portions of the shopping center.

IMPROVEMENTS — Approved remodeling plans of D. K. Sherwood for an office building at 1353 Lincoln Avenue, and planter box landscaping by Amsel and Clark for Ames Ford Sales' used car lot at 601 Third Street.

Award Set As Memorial To Craemer

The first Justus F. Craemer Publisher of the Year Award will be presented by the California Press Association this year at its annual banquet in San Francisco.

Lowell E. Jessen, president of the CPA, said yesterday the award would be given for publishing leadership and service in the tradition of Craemer, a distinguished California newspaperman who died last year.

Craemer was engaged in newspaper work and public service for more than a half century. He was a principal owner of the San Rafael Independent-Journal at the time of his death.

Jessen, co-publisher and editor of the Turlock Daily Journal, invited "newspaper people, citizens at large, and educational and civic groups" to make nominations for the Craemer Award.

He said nominations should include a resume of accomplishments and must be sent by Sept. 1 to the CPA office at 45 Second Street, San Francisco.

The winner will be chosen by a panel of journalism educators, and the award will be presented at the San Francisco banquet Dec. 1.

Service District Adopts Budget

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District last night adopted a budget of $53,000 for the next fiscal year, up $4,000 from the current year.

Controller Alan Shattuck said today that directors hope to continue with the same tax rate of 89 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The increase will go to a new retirement program for employees and additional fire fighting equipment. Shattuck said the district will end this fiscal year with about $23,000 in reserves. He said directors want a large reserve to avoid borrowing from the county during wait for payment of December tax bills.

Quail Hill Office Plan Wins Commission Nod

San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved a planned community zoning for Quail Hill which City Director Herbert G. Hotchner said was "in the highest interests not only of San Rafael but of Marin County."

The proposed development on 82 acres owned by Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Association, west of Northgate Shopping Center, calls for 110 townhouse units, 34 single-family dwellings, a conference center, professional-adminstrative buildings and a commercial building, which alternatively might be developed for 40 apartment units.

OFFICES PLANNED

The most important feature of the development — and also the only essential change from a planned community approved in May, 1966 — is the conference center and offices complex at the top of the hill.

These replace 106 townhouses in the previous plan and would be developed for Commerce Clearing House, Inc., one of the nation's foremost publishers of law reports, with offices in New York, Chicago, Washington, D.C., and until it moves to Marin, in San Francisco.

A group of five office buildings, "aesthetically designed and landscaped," is contemplated, with the publishing house occupying one as its western headquarters and seeking to rent three others to professional organizations.

CONFERENCE CENTER

The fifth, the corporation would try to establish as an Asilomar-type conference center with accomodations for conferees attending professional seminars. If that failed to be feasible, the fifth building would also house professional or administrative offices.

Hotchner praised the concept, said it was the "kind of business Marin needs." The multi-million-dollar development, he said, would reach the tax base.

Carol Snyker, manager of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, said, "We need something like this in the county." Similar praise came from Daniel F. Deedy, manager of the Marin County Real Estate Board, and John Gibbs, speaking for the Terra Linda Valley Homeowners Association.

TRAFFIC WORRIES

Two residents of the area received reassurances as to traffic flow in the vicinity and design and landscaping to protect privacy and visual appeal for dwellers below the project.

Among the long list of conditions to which the publishing house agreed was the completion of Nova Albion Way near Terra Linda High School, completing the throughway from Northgate Drive to Las Gallinas Avenue.

The only question arose over fire standards recommended in the professional-administrative complex by Fire Chief Vance Trivett. He called for construction to Zone 1 standards, or else a road encircling the complex and equipped with hydrants.

SOLUTION DELAYED

Commissioners agreed these were unnecessarily restrictive and would do more harm esthetically than they warranted. Fire Zone 1 construction would require massive steel-reinforced concrete construction.

Hotchner said the building department had called Zone 2 standards adequate.

The commissioners approved the plan and recommended that the fire-standard provisions be referred to the fire commission for review before the matter is presented to the city council for final action Monday.

Health Budget Session Tonight

The Marin County Mental Health Advisory Board will go over the 1967-68 budget for Community Mental Health Services again tonight before the Marin supervisors take up the budget at a public hearing tomorrow.

The advisory board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital. Mental Health Director Clyde G. Miller has proposed a budget of $698,066 with a county contribution of $248,497.

Driver Is Injured As Car Sideswiped

Mrs. Barbara S. Papke, 20, of 777 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, was treated Monday at Marin General Hospital for a stiff neck and headache after her sports car was sideswiped in San Rafael by a truck driven by Roy G. Stuckey of Petaluma.

Both vehicles were turning right from Irwin Street onto Second Street when the accident happened at 3:40 p.m., police reported.

Quaker Trip To Haiphong Is Defended

The voyage of the Phoenix to North Vietnam with San Rafael resident Phillip Drath and 82 cases of medical supplies was not "trading with the enemy."

"We weren't trading, and we have no enemies," writes Ivan Massar, 42, free-lance photographer, in an article entitled "A Troubled Voyage to North Vietnam," in the current issue of Look Magazine.

Mas ser, of Concord, Mass., was one of the five pacifists who accompanied Drath on the trip to Haiphong with medical aid they said was bound for North Vietnamese civilians.

He said the group was met with bouquets from officials of the Red Cross Society of Haiphong.

The officials stated: "If you come with bombs, we will answer you with fire, but if you come as friends we will answer you with flowers and friendship in return."

Masser, of Concord, Mass., the North Vietnamese were bewildered over events during the past few years.

"The North Vietnamese had believed that if any country should have understood what they'd just done in winning their independence from France, it would be the U. S.," he wrote.

Council Is Warned On Chamber Funds

City Atty. John G. Buresh last night told the San Anselmo City Council it could not legally approve the $3,500 budget submitted by the chamber of commerce.

Buresh said the city cannot make a "gift of public funds" to the chamber for its operating expenses. But the city can allocate funds for specified types of advertising or publicity, and designate an organization to administer these funds, he said.

The chamber budget request shows the $3,500 would be used for salaries, rent, taxes and other such operating expenses. The only chamber budget item the council could legally approve would be $1,500 for brochures about the city, Buresh said, and this was not included in the chamber's request to the city.

Buresh suggested a way around the problem. The chamber plans to raise $4,000 on its own for Christmas decorations, he said. The council could contribute for Christmas decorations as advertising, and let the chamber use money it raised from business firms for operating expenses.

The council decided to budget money for the chamber pending a proposal which can be legally approved.

Councilman Duane C. Ragan asked City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel to prepare an estimate on the cost of bringing city salaries up to average for the area, for a budget session tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

WIENER SCHNITZEL — Reversed the planning commission to unanimously approve W. A. Landtbom's request for a permit for a "Der Wienerschitzel" take-out food restaurant at 111 Red Hill Avenue.

CREEK — Approved A. R. Wessell's request to use some of the rip-rap material resulting from the widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to line the creek at 54 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

PARKING LOT — Approved an agreement with W. A. Landtbom to use the Safeway Store parking lot on San Anselmo Avenue for public parking during widening of Drake, at no expense to the city.

DRAKE PARKING — Postponed discussion of prohibiting parking on the north side of Drake Boulevard from the Hub intersection to Sonoma Avenue, pending negotiation with merchants.

NUISANCE — Ordered immediate removal by the city of an old building and trash at 528 Sequoia Drive, belonging to Royce Crain, because of the fire hazard, with the cost to be charged to the owner.

BRUSH CLEARING — Set July 10 as the deadline for property owners to clear lots of brush which presents a fire hazard.

UTILITIES — Set for Aug. 8 public hearing on undergrounding of utilities on Drake Boulevard between Greenfield Avenue and Bank Street.

STREET LIGHTS — Decided to sell street lights at Meadowcroft Drive and Broadmoor Avenue, in need of $3,000 in repairs, to Pacific Gas and Electric Co., with the cost of repairs to be deducted from the price.

FLOOD DAMAGE—Approved application for about $13,000 in state aid for flood damage.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning property of Allen Larkins Jr. at 60 Magnolia Avenue from single-family to neighborhood apartments.

TREE SERVICE — Awarded a $1,035 contract for elm beetle spraying to Sohner Tree Service Inc. of San Anselmo, high bidder of two, after the low bid, $888 by Erb Tree Service Inc. of Mill Valley, proved to be below specifications.

ROBSON ESTATE — Learned from Mayor Arthur W. Smith that he is to meet with Donald A. Duerr of San Francisco Theological Seminary tonight to discuss the Kernan Robson estate at 237 Crescent Road, at Duerr's request. The seminary recently accepted the property from the estate, in accordance with the Robson will.

PUBLIC SAFETY BUILDING — Received a proposal from civil engineer George C. Davison of San Anselmo that the city purchase the Busolo service station property on San Anselmo Avenue and locate a new public safety building on that and adjoining city property between Center Boulevard and San Anselmo Avenue. The council referred the proposal to the streets and traffic committee.

Dodd Gives Emotional Self-Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., in an emotional appeal to his colleagues against censure charges, today swore he was telling the truth in declaring his innocence, "may the vengeance of God strike me down otherwise."

The 60-year-old, silver-haired senator saved for the finale of his defense presentation of his evangelical declaration of innocence.

It was a departure from his prepared text, which consisted of a point-by-point denial of charges that he misused political funds and double-billed for travel expenses. He blamed "slovenly" bookkeeping by former aide Michael V. O'Hare—who with three other former Dodd aides had given newspaper columnists some 4,000 documents from Dodd's files to start the probe.

"I've talked with you, I've walked among you, I've lived with you more than eight years.

"Does anyone of you know that I have ever lied to you? That I never cheated? That I have done any dishonorable thing? That I have ever given you my word and done something else?

"Is there any here who say I lied? Get up!. If I lied...if I cheated you...get up and say so!"

No one got up.

Dodd reminded them he had paid back money involved in what he said was inadvertent double-billing for travel expenses.

Before Dodd began his defense, his self-appointed chief defender, Sen. Russell N. Long, D-La., promised to reveal tomorrow dramatic new evidence that he said would help save the former FBI agent from condemnation.

Stanford Sells Valuable Ranch

STANFORD (UPI)—A Southern California rancher bought 2,779 acres of the former Jacks estate from Stanford University yesterday in what was described as the largest land sale in the history of Monterey County.

John S. Broome, Oxnard, asked the university not to disclose the exact amount of the cash transaction, but it was estimated at $5.5 million.

The land was part of the estate left by Miss Margaret Jacks to the university when she died in 1962. The acreage, in the Soledad-Chualar area of Salinas Valley, has been used largely for lettuce, celery and strawberries.

Waldo Point Planning Help Wins Approval

Marin County supervisors yesterday, voicing some fears, voted to assign a member of the county planning staff to work half-time with four property owners at Waldo Point to develop a plan for the use of their land.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss asked if this meant the county would be asked by other land owners for staff time in drawing up plans.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr claimed the Waldo Point situation was unique. He said development was being delayed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission pending preparation of a plan.

The request for help came from Alexis Tellis, representing commodore properties, Thomas Nowell, Kenneth Norberg and Donlan Arques. Only major land owner not joining in the request was George Kappas.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said it may be necessary during the study to call on the assistance of an outside consultant. Supervisors thought the owners should pay for this.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen feared that the county planning department might draw up plans that he could not accept, but the vote to approve assignment of a county employee to the project was unanimous.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

RURAL LIGHTING—Put over until next Tuesday discussion of the street lighting project on White's Hill west of Fairfax and possibility of paying $9,200 in county funds to underground the lines there. The request for delay came from Thomas T. Storer, chairman.

AIRPORT — Awarded a $310,687 contract to Brown-Ely Co. of El Cerrito, for construction of the county airport at Novato. The firm was the lowest of three bidders.

ARKS — Approved payment to the City of Larkspur of $675 for cost of city removal of arks, but asked that the city henceforth get approval for such work from the board before taking action.

JUVENILE HALL WORK — Approved a contract with architects Crawford and Banning of San Rafael for design of two wings at Juvenile Hall, with payments not to exceed $45,000, which is 10 per cent of the estimated cost of construction.

SPECIAL CLASSES—Approved use by the county schools office of an acre site east of the fire station at Juvenile Hall for three portable classrooms to house mentally retarded pupils that must move out of the old county farm building because of earthquake hazard.

NEW EMPLOYEES — Hired Ronald B. Jenkins at $650 a month as deputy probation officer; William L. Hess at $960 a month as associate civil engineer; Marguerite Gray at $362 as intermediate clerk in the welfare department, and Mary A. Heilmann at $440 as teacher at the children's center.

WEST MARIN — Set hearing on the West Marin Master Plan for 3:30 p.m. June 27.

MORGUE—Accepted Coroner Donovan O. Cooke's suggestion that his earlier proposal for establishment of a county morgue be deferred.

HOLIDAY — Agreed not to meet during the week July 2-8 because of the July 4 holiday, but said a special meeting could be called July 6 if pressing county business should arise.

Disease In Marin

Eleven cases of gonorrhea were reported in Marin County during the week ending last Saturday, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, said today. There were 66 cases of strep infections, three cases of mumps and two cases of measles. One case of German measles was reported in Sausalito.

Drug Victim Moved To Hospital In Napa

Gerald T. Dunlevy was treated for an overdose of an unidentified drug at Marin General Hospital after San Anselmo police were called to the home of his sister, Mary J. Baigi of 875 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, at 9:35 p.m. Monday.

Dunlevy, released yesterday from Mendocino State Hospital, was transferred in fair condition from Marin General Hospital to Napa State Hospital Monday night.

MURDERER — Carmen Raymond Gagliardi, alleged Boston underworld gunman who abandoned a bullet-riddled corpse in the front seat of his rented car when stopped by police, is now on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list of "Ten Most Wanted Men." He is 26, weighs 200 pounds and has black hair. Anyone with information should notify the FBI.

Quake Survey Debate Still Not Resolved

The question of earthquake threat and its relation to planning in Marin County was debated again before county supervisors yesterday, then put off for more debate next week.

By that time, supervisors hope to have a report from the public works department on the need for a fulltime or part-time geologist to advise regarding construction of slopes or other unsteady ground. This report was asked by Supervisor William A. Gnoss.

Request for appointment of a committee to study the need for earthquake information came again from the planning commission. Again Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis opposed the idea. McInnis wanted to table the matter but this failed 2-3 with Supervisors Peter H. Behr, Thomas T. Storer and Gnoss dissenting.

Kettenhofen said he might not oppose study of earthquakes if it was restricted to guiding the building department on design of structures and was not part of the planning department material where it might be a tool of zoning.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the reason he would like the study was to determine if it should be a consideration in planning.

Ban Adopted On Covered Boat Docks

Marin County supervisors yesterday voted 4-0, with Supervisor Thomas T. Storer absent at the time, for an ordinance banning covered docks on the banks of Gallinas canal.

The vote came after a lengthy hearing in which Santa Venetia residents discussed the pros, but mostly the cons of covered docks and specifically the dock project of Richard G. McDonald of 131 Vendola Drive.

McDonald has held up construction pending decision by the Gallinas Canal county service area advisory board on what to do about covered docks. The board was waiting opinion from the community. Supervisor John F. McGinnis told McDonald last week that he had waited long enough, there was no law now forbidding a cover and he should go ahead.

This action prompted the long-awaited community opinion and supervisors adopted the ban. At the same time they ruled that McDonald could go ahead with his covered dock, since the ordinance would not be in effect for 30 days and it would include no order for removal of existing covers.

Novatan Hurt In Cycle-Car Crash

A Novato man suffered shoulder bruise when thrown from his motorcycle when it tangled with a car yesterday at 5 p.m. on Bellam Boulevard, east of Jacoby Street, San Rafael.

Michael Taylor Farrell, 19, of 139 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, eastbound on Jacoby, started to pass a car driven by Philip Martin Sheridan, 20, of 210 Shevelin Road, Novato, but Sheridan's car turned right and they collided, the California Highway Patrol reported. Farrell was treated at Marin General Hospital.

A Radio Call Bags Suspect In Burglary

Gene R. Toikka, 21, of 21 Elmwood Court, Novato, was stopped by Corte Madera Patrolman Roger Downward at 3:08 a.m. at the Marin City off-ramp from Highway 101.

San Rafael Police Lt. Thomas L. Stephenson had broadcast an all-points bulletin at 3:06 a.m. for the 1967 car Toikka was driving.

PISTOL IN CAR

Police found a .32 caliber pistol in the car trunk, and said Toikka had 22 .32 caliber bullets in his pockets. Toikka did not resist arrest.

Downward saw Toikka's car at Lucky Drive in Corte Madera and followed it to the Marin City off-ramp.

Toikka was charged with a burglary of the Bret Hart Beauty Salon, 97 Woodland Avenue, which netted $13.15.

Stephenson said he was patrolling at 2:30 a.m. when he saw the car parked near the beauty salon. On a second check a few minutes later, the car was gone. Stephenson found the salon had been entered by a rear window and issued a call to pick up the car and its occupants.

BOOKED AT JAIL

Toikka was booked at Marin County Jail for burglary, and was charged by Corte Madera police with concealing stolen property, having a concealed weapon and possessing burglary instruments — a screwdriver found in his pocket.

There may be another charge facing Toikka. The car he drove was leased to another person, and police were checking today to see whether it was stolen or had been loaned to Toikka as he claimed.

Teener Arrested For Gasoline Explosion Prank

NEW YORK (AP) — A teenager was arrested today in the blast last night in which 19 persons were burned, seven critically, when a match was tossed at gasoline dripping from a taxicab in the Bronx.

The seven critical were all teen-agers and children.

A fire department spokesman said Soltero's cousin, Ann, and her son, Paul, 4, were injured in the fire.

Detectives quoted Soltero as saying, "I didn't think it would do that much damage. I'm terribly sorry."

Oak View School Bids Due Today

Trustees of Dixie School District tonight will consider bids to be opened this afternoon on construction of the first units of Oak View School, including three regular classrooms, a kindergarten and two classrooms for mentally retarded.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the district office, 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Also up for discussion will be plans for three classrooms, a physical education room and language laboratory to be added to Vallecitio School, and preliminary plans on a one-classroom addition to Miller Creek School.

Trustees will also consider Supt. Dennis B. Willis's suggestion that Penrod Moss be promoted to assistant superintendent and that a position of personnel and special services director be created in the superintendent's office.

Car's Spare Stolen

Veal Goes Italian With Parmesan

GRATED PARMESAN CHEESE is a stylish coating for succulent veal round steak simmered in wine and seasonings and cooked with peas.

Suitable for silver platter service is versatile veal with an Italian touch. Grated parmesan cheese is the stylish coating for succulent veal round stead. Simmer the thin slices in white wine seasoned with rosemary and continental accents of garlic and onion. Sliced mushrooms and a few colorful green peas complete this elegant entree.

VEAL IN WINE

Tender slices of artfully seasoned veal are a gourmet offering to present on a party best platter or in a handsome chafing dish.

1¼ pounds thinly sliced veal round steak
Salt
⅓ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 minced small onion
1 minced clove garlic
1 cup sliced mushrooms
⅔ cup white table wine
⅛ teaspoon Rosemary
½ cup frozen peas
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water

Sprinkle veal with salt, coat both sides with cheese. Brown slowly in hot oil. Add onion, garlic and mushrooms. Cook until onion is lightly browned, then add wine and rosemary. Cover and simmer 25 minutes. Add peas. Cover and cook 5 minutes longer. Stir in cornstarch blended with water. Cook a minute longer, stirring, until sauce thickens. Makes 4 servings.

PIQUANT MINCE MEAT-Vinegar Pie receives its sweet sharpness from sour cream, condensed mince meat and cider vinegar, all ringed with whipped cream.

Sweet-Sharp Mince Meat Pie

A tradition such as vinegar-mincemeat pie lives long in New England, where women have been known as fine cooks since the early settlement days. In fact, some writers say that in those times women of the house carried a cookbook under one arm and a Bible under the other.

Just about everyone who grew up in the area remembers with fondness the piquant vinegar pie, also called poor-man's pie. As many New Englanders migrated west, it became the favorite pie there, too.

A "Down East" novelist, Mary Ellen Chase, describes in her "Silas Crocket" the profusion of pies at a Maine family's dinner: "And when an hour had elapsed (since dinner) there came from the kitchen mince pies and apple pies with accompanying wedges of yellow cheese, steamed cranberry puddings with spiced cream sauce, and great slabs of fruit encrusted an inch thick with white icing flavored with almond and bristling with walnuts."

This vinegar-mincemeat pie receives its sweet sharpness from sour cream, condensed mince meat and cider vinegar, all ringed with whipped cream fluffed like white snow. It's a pie to grace a dinner as elaborate and ample as that described by Mary Ellen Chase, or a simpler one in the modern mood.

PROUD MINCEMEAT-VINEGAR PIE

(Makes one 9-inch pie)

1 (9-inch unbaked pastry shell
2 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup (½ pint) sour cream
3 tblsp butter
1 (9-oz) package condensed mincemeat
2 tblsp cider vinegar

Chill pastry shell in refrigerator while preparing filling. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in sugar until mixture becomes thick. In a medium-size mixing bowl, beat egg yolks until well blended. Fold egg whites into beaten yolks. Add flour and sour cream, alternately, a little at a time, beginning and ending with flour. In a small saucepan, melt butter; crumble mincemeat into melted butter; blend in vinegar. Gently fold into egg mixture. Turn into chilled pastry shell. Bake in a hot (450° F.) oven 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 25 to 30 minutes, or until filling is firm and well browned. Cool. Serve at room temperature. If desired, top with whipped dessert topping or whipped cream.

For Summer— Drink Fresh Fruit Shakes

To welcome summer, drink a banana or a peach, a pineapple or a plum!

All you have to do is whip up a fresh fruit shake, . First take milk and vanilla ice cream, then pick a fruit and choose a flavoring such as vanilla extract or cinnamon. Pop in the blender for 30 seconds, and pour a frothy shake — Plum Good, perhaps, or Peachy Keen.

Its a perfect do-it-yourself party recipe because all the shakes start out the same. In addition to milk and a container of ice cream, provide a selection of fresh, frosty fruit; a choice of flavorings; maybe a drop of food coloring (though it's not essential); some pretty trimmings and tall glasses. The blender will hold two shakes at a time.

FRESH FRUIT SHAKE

The three basic ingredients are:

½ cup milk
1 medium scoop (½ cup) vanilla ice cream
1 serving of fruit (see below)

Blend at high speed for 30 seconds. Yield: one shake.

CHOCO-BANANA Peel a banana, cut into four pieces. Blend with milk, ice cream and two teaspoons of quick chocolate-flavored drink powder.

STRAWBERRY Use one-half cup halved strawberries, one-half teaspoon of vanilla extract and two tablespoons of light corn syrup.

APPLE-CINNAMON Peel and core an eating apple, cut into wedges and add to blender with one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon.

PLUM GOOD Peel two plums, pit them and cut into wedges. If tart, sweeten with one teaspoon sugar; add a little red food color.

PEACHY KEEN Peel one large or two small peaches (or nectarines) and cut into wedges, discarding stone. Add to milk and ice cream.

FOR GRILLING

Warm Weather Tip Steak And Lettuce

What a dish! "Sliced Steak in Lettuce Sauce" is the most original, the most attractive and the best-tasting treatment for flank steak we've ever seen, bar none.

To make this warm-weather specialty, broil the steak with mushrooms in your broiler or use your barbecue grill. (Whatever your cooking method, have the butcher tenderize the steak for you.) The thing that makes this dish so different is the sauce: A combination of mayonnaise, sour cream and vinegar with chopped raw mushrooms and a whole head of crisp western iceberg lettuce chilled and chopped.

Serve the steak warm or cold as you wish. Either way, spread the thick lettuce sauce over your serving platter and set the steak slices into it with a little space between them. Garnish with pieces of frilly, dark green outer lettuce leaves and mushroom caps centered with bright red cherry tomatoes. Beautiful! And what good eating this is!

SLICED STEAK IN LETTUCE SAUCE

1 head Western iceberg lettuce
½ lb. fresh mushrooms
½ cup real mayonnaise
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ cup finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons white wine vinegar
Salt
Black pepper
1¼ lbs. flank steak, tenderized
1 clove garlic, peeled, halved
Salad oil

Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Chill in plastic bag. Reserve outer leaves for garnish; finely chop remainder to measure 4 cups. Remove stems of 6 mushrooms; reserve caps. Finely chop stems and remaining mushrooms. Combine mayonnaise, sour cream, onion, vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper; fold in chopped lettuce and mushrooms. Chill.

Preheat broiler as manufacturer directs. Make cuts along short ends of steak to prevent curling. Rub steak with garlic; brush with oil and sprinkle with pepper. Brush mushroom caps with oil. Place steak and mushrooms in rack in broiler pan about 2 inches from heat; broil 3 to 4 minutes on each side or until done as you like it. Sprinkle with salt. Let steak cool or slice warm, diagonally across grain, into ¼-inch thick slices. Spread lettuce sauce on serving plate; stand flank steak slices in a row, a little apart, in sauce. Garnish with lettuce leaves and mushroom caps holding cherry tomatoes if you wish. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Here's A Recipe For Avacado Dip

3 ripe medium avocados
¼ cup finely chopped shallot or scallion bulb
Juice of 1 medium lime
½ teaspoon salt
8 ounces (about) corn chips

Halve avocados lengthwise; twist apart; remove seeds; peel. Mash fine (there should be 2 cups). Mix in the shallot, lime juice (there should be 2 tablespoons) and salt. Serve at once (or mixture will darken) with corn chips for scooping up the avocado dip. Makes 4 generous servings. Because the strength of shallots varies as does the acidity of lime juice, you may need to adjust the amounts given in this recipe.

Double Beef Burgers

Double Beef Burgers are twice as good. Put two ground beef patties together with a dollop of your favorite pickle relish in between. Pinch edges together to seal and broil or grill to desired doneness. Delicious, extra juicy burgers!

Lunchtime Specialty

Here is an onion-cheese-bacon sandwich spread that will spread good eating cheer among the lunchbox-carrying set, agreed neighborhood testers for the Dairy Council of California. Soften one 8-ounce package cream cheese. Add 1 tablespoon instant minced onion to 2 tablespoons mayonnaise; combine with cream cheese. Stir in ¼ teaspoon lemon juice, 2 strips crisply fried and crumbled bacon, salt and pepper to taste. Makes 1 cup spread.

Chilled Yogurt Soups

For four servings of a real soup-sipper's treat combine 1 can condensed cream of tomato, celery or chicken soup with ½ pint of yogurt. Blend thoroughly; chill. Pour into soup dishes and garnish with chopped parsley, dill or chives.

SLICED FLANK STEAK can be served warm or cold on a bed of iceberg lettuce and garnished with lettuce leaves, mushroom caps holding cherry tomatoes.

OUTSTANDING MEMBER of the Leningrad Ballet School class is Mikhail Barishnikov, center, who is regarded by Russian ballet teachers as the most promising male dancer in the USSR, says Leona Norman, who just returned from a Soviet trip.

THIS IS THE beginning class of the Bolshoi School of Ballet seen by San Rafael ballet teacher Leona Norman in Moscow in 1960. A class of 15 youngsters are carefully selected from top applicants and some may not make it through to the graduation some seven or eight years later.

THE SAME CLASS performs some of the exercises at graduation time in 1967 at the Moscow Academy of Ballet Arts, formerly the Bolshoi school. They performed both the court ballet, seen here, and the national or character style dances. Here the students are about 18 or 19 years old.

Dance Teachers Retrace Footsteps In USSR —

For Rare Look At Soviet Ballet Schools

By BARBARA HOSMER

Almost as if they were her own students, a San Rafael ballet teacher returned to Russia to view with a practiced eye the graduation of the ballet classes she saw begin training there seven years ago.

"We were fortunate," says the teacher, Leona Norman, "because they have been very fussy about letting Americans come to the ballet schools. Yet the staff people there were very anxious for such exchanges."

After thorough screening and intensive training, the students which Mrs. Norman saw dance may include some of the world's top ballet artists of the future.

Again accompanied by San Franicsco ballet teacher Carolyn Parks, Mrs. Norman visited both the Leningrad Ballet School and the former Bolshoi Ballet School, now called the Moscow Academy of Ballet Arts, where in the spring of 1960 the two American teachers had first seen the fledgling classes of the little 10 and 12 year olds.

"AT THAT TIME we asked and arrangements were made for us to return to the Soviet Union to see those students graduate," Mrs. Norman explains. And indeed it was a stroke of luck that they were able to get that inside look at these academies of traditional ballet.

It was Carolyn's husband's connection with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce that in 1959 allowed Mayor George Christopher to put in a good word for the teachers to Nikita Khrushchev when he visited San Francisco, and permission was given the pair to make the trip to the ballet schools where few Americans have been admitted.

That trip was a success for the teachers, who were warmly greeted and entertained by all connected with both the Bolshoi and Leningrad schools.

This year, when the time came to return for the graduations, they exchanged letters with the school staffs, asking to be notified when the graduation classes would be held. With the dates settled they made arrangements and went directly to the USSR for three weeks in the two leading Soviet cities. They returned to Marin last month.

MRS. NORMAN SAID that there has been a change in the ballet situation so that the Bolshoi company no longer has first choice of the graduates, and that perhaps it was significant that now retired Bolshoi prima ballerina Galina Ulanova did not attend the graduation exercises this year for the first time, as she has been opposed to this change of policy.

She said also that a huge complex to house the Moscow Academy of Ballet Arts is being built outside the city and will take 500 students. It will have a stage comparable in size to the old Bolshoi Theater but with only 500 seats — strictly a teaching set up, and it is planned so that experimental ballet can be done, Mrs. Norman said.

The students have ballet class every day as well as piano and such academic subjects as language and history. Then they start to accelerate the dance program with "national" (traditional dances as opposed to court ballet) dances. The training intensifies over the years and the youngste get stage experience as in the Bolshoi ballet children's parts.

There is no private instruction in ballet in the USSR, Mrs. Norman said. The Young Pioneers have ballet classes in character style work, and an instructor said that one Bolshoi soloist had been taken into the company from these amateur classes.

BALLET STUDENTS PAY for nothing once they have passed the rigorous health and ability examinations, and when they graduate they are guaranteed a position somewhere — whether with the top ballet companies, the national dance companies or such as the Moiseyev.

Mrs. Norman said that in Moscow a man whom she had met here with the Bolshoi and who had charge of the fifth grade boys class, told her that three of the boys hadn't passed their exams. Why? — "They were too short," he said. If a dancer doesn't grow properly he may be dropped, but usually these youngsters are taken into other dance companies such as the Moiseyev. Near physicial perfection is demanded by the leading ballet companies, Mrs. Norman explained.

The two Americans were entertained by the staff of the ballet schools, and a teacher from the Bolshoi school whom they had met in the Unted States during a tour invited them to dinner at her home, a new apartment in Moscow where she lives with her family.

"We were surprised to see an icon on the wall," Mrs. Norman remarked. She said that, though still young, the Russian ballet teacher was planning to retire soon and hoped perhaps to study medicine, a usual profession for women in the USSR.

DIFFERENCES THE Americans noticed from their previous trip in 1960 were that there was much more social dancing at hotels and restaurants, that the crowds on the streets were much better dressed and that there were big changes in creature comforts. "You can hear jazz on the radio now, too," Mrs. Norman remarked, "and everyone was wearing net stockings."

The teachers attended ballet performances whenever they could, finding some very badly overproduced with "little real dancing," and others very good.

"In some they used silent movie dramatics and the dancers didn't really get to dance, they just emoted," Mrs. Norman said. But some of the children's ballet she found excellent. The problem is the need for new choreography, she explained.

"They are beginning to work on this," she said, adding that the Russian ballet teachers said that they had liked the newness of the choreography which American companies touring Russia had shown.

"They also praised the New York City Ballet because a Russian (George Balanchine) is at the head of it, and they liked some of the Ballet Theatre when it came," Mrs. Norman said.

The pair found that most of the ballet teachers in the two Soviet cities were very curious about the ballet companies here and wanted to know much more about them.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'She Who Casts First Critical Stone Should Be Expert' Or Quiet

DEAR HELEN:

I have a "friend" who mutilates the English language, yet I say nothing. But she's always acting superior about her "knowledge."

For instance, the other day she laughed at my pronunciation of a word and two minutes later she corrected my usage of another. I went home boiling, checked the dictionary, and found, as usual, I was right on both counts.

Isn't it rude to correct a person's speech unless it is a child or the misprouunciation of a name is involved?

At any rate, she who casts the first critical stone should be an expert. —A's IN ENGLISH

DEAR A:

You might turn this rude gal's "stone" into a boomerang with, "I'll bet you a dollar my pronunciation is right." And collect!

Critics of your spoken word should be parents, teachers — or quiet! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I became involved with a married man who lived next door with his in-laws. He and his wife and baby moved to the other side of town and he broke off with me, but it was too late. I was pregnant.

In a panic, I told him and the in-laws, but they refused to believe me. They all insisted if I was pregnant, it wasn't him.

As the months went on, I hardly showed, and was able to hide my condition with the use of a girdle and loose clothes. Even at work no one guessed. I said nothing more about it to anyone. I was shopping in a nearby town when the baby came, a month premature. I gave a fictitious name at the hospital, and still no one guessed. I was "off work because of the flu."

I'd planned to give the baby up, but now I can't sign because I want him so badly. He's at a receiving home waiting my decision. But what about the man, the in-laws, and my "secret?"

One look and there will be trouble as he looks too much like his father to be my "nephew" or something.

I can't move just now, and it will be hard supporting him without help. The father of the baby often comes to visit his in-laws and I usually see him. The situation would be very bad as his wife would also guess.

What should I do?

—TOO LATE

DEAR TOO:

Be completely honest with yourself. Are you really keeping the baby because of great and lasting love — or so that you can embarrass a man who "did you wrong" — with your willing consent?

Or perhaps you have the submerged hope that he'll toss over his wife and child for you. If so, forget it!

If you truly love your son enough to keep him, you'll manage a new job in another town where he'll have a chance to grow up normally. Otherwise, he'll be better off adopted. —H.

Men Are The Angrier Sex Say Recent Science Studies

CHICAGO (WMNS) — Do women blow their top more frequently than men? Or is it the other way round? Science is on the side of those who maintain that men are the angrier sex.

The AMA reports that two studies show that the average man really loses his temper on an average of six times a week. Women get mad mostly at other people because of real or fancied slights and other assorted grievances. Men see red because of the misbehavior of inanimate objects: a flat tire; a missed train; a dull razor.

So men get angry twice as often as women. The question remains, though, who gets angrier when angry?

Fads are for people-not dogs
STOP FOOLING AROUND...FEED RED HEART DOG FOOD

SO COMPLETE you don't have to feed your dog anything else

Don't fool with your dog's health by feeding "fad foods" like dog burgers and so-called all-meat rations. Instead, feed Red Heart, the complete dog food. Made by a meat processor who knows precisely the meat protein your dog needs, Red Heart also has the vital vitamins and minerals to make its formula complete. The so-called all-meats short your dog on these essentials. And most burger-type products contain 20% or more added sugar, while Red Heart has none. Remember, with Red Heart—the complete dog food—you need nothing else. So don't take chances with fad foods. For the life of your dog, feed Red Heart.

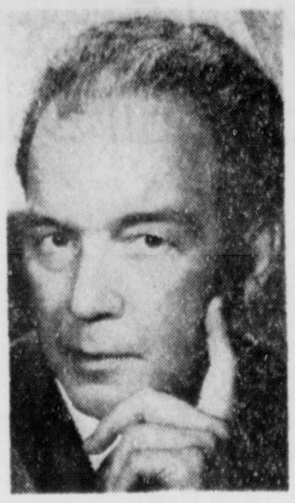
Composer For The Recorder Will Perform



HANS ULRICH STAEPS
Recorder artist

European composer Hans Ulrich Staeps, who has composed the most music for the recorder since Telemann, will appear in a free recorder concert Saturday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall at College of Marin.

His appearance is under auspices of the college's Concert-Lecture series and will follow a workshop he is conducting for the Marin chapter of the American Recorder Society.

The first half of the program will include "Partita in A Minor" by Telemann, with Donald Pippin as piano accompanist; Staeps's own "Dialogues" and harpsichord solo "Fantasy on the name of Paul Hindemith"; and Sonata in G Minor by Josef Hector Fiocco. This will be played on an original recorder made in 1690 which is in Staeps's own collection of historic instruments.

Following intermission the program will consist of demonstrations of the various possibilities of the recorder in works by Mozart, Terry Winter-Owens and Staeps.

His "Amnis Aevi Omnipotens" features his performance on the piano accompanied by Peter Ballinger, Leo Christiansen, Douglas Perrin and Alvin Roper on recorders and the voices of Dianne Roberts and Richard Hughes, all members of the Marin Recorder Society.

Sweeney, 44, was a professional dancer and taught children's and ballroom dancing in Napa, Marin, Alameda, San Francisco and San Mateo counties.

More Power Voted For Novato Planner

The Novato City Council last night passed two ordinances giving the city planning director broadly expanded powers.

One ordinance, which passed 4-1 with Councilmen M. E. Babe Silva dissenting, creates the new position of zoning administrator. However, the council voted to vest Planning Director Robert Lagle with this title also—at no increase in pay.

The zoning administrator is empowered by the ordinance to grant variances without referral to the planning commission. He may refer applications to the commission at his own discretion, and his denials of variances may be appealed to the commission by the applicants.

The second ordinance empowers the planning director to grant sub-divisions of fewer than four parcels if they have been approved by the director of public works, without their going before the planning commission or city council. This was passed unanimously.

Subdivisions of four or more parcels are subject to public hearing under a state law.

The council eliminated from the zoning administrator ordinance an original provision which would also have empowered the zoning administrator to grant use permits.

The Novato City Council Also:

INSURANCE — Postponed until next Tuesday call for bids on the city's insurance business, with contract to be awarded June 27. The call had already been postponed once.

STREET REALIGNMENT — Authorized calling for bids on completion of the DeLong-Diablo Avenue realignment, and authorized spending $3,365 out of general funds for work on the Elm Drive portion of the project, which is estimated to cost $373,000.

NOVATO SQUARE—Approved changing the master plan of Novato Square to allow 24-foot private roadways through the square to connect to DeLong, Grant and Machin avenues and Highway 101.

PARKS — Approved an agreement with Ribera and Sue of Berkeley, landscape architect firm, to design city parks, but delayed giving the firm any work on the contract until it decides on whether to go ahead with plans for a bond election in the fall.

SUBDIVISIONS — Accepted public improvement in Yanke subdivision and Celeste Estates, both off Center Road, as completed.

NUISANCE — Postponed until June 27 consideration of abating a nuisance by removing several shacks at 1136 Third Street.

WESTERN WEEKEND — Authorized payment of $1,000 to Western Weekend, Inc., to promote the celebration.

BUDGET — Adjourned until 8 p.m. today and 8 p.m. tomorrow to continue study of the fiscal 1968 budget.

Injuries Minor In 101 Collision

A mother and her son suffered minor injuries when the car in which they were riding crashed into one in front on Highway 101, on the north slope of Alto Hill, at 7:25 a.m. yesterday.

A car driven by Harold Eugue McLain, 42, of 104 Oak Road, Fairfax, stopped for slowing southbound traffic, California Highway Patrol reported. One driven by Charles Rex Holt, 27, of 1441 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, crashed into the rear of McLain's car. Holt's wife, Penny Susan, 26, was treated at Marin General Hospital for scalp and knee bruises, and their 11-month-old son, Charles Kevin, for a cut lip

Signups Slated For Swim Lessons

Signups for swimming lessons sponsored by the Strawberry Recreation District will open at 11:30 a.m. Friday at the utility building at Strawberry Park.

Registration dates for the following two-week sessions will be June 30, July 14 and July 28, all at noon.

Large Cat Report Is Checked Out

Novato Gives Phone Firm TV Franchise

Western California Telephone Co. last night was granted a franchise to operate television cables throughout Novato.

The franchise has been the subject of almost two years study by the city council and months of discussion with several applicants.

Terms of the franchise permit the company to charge $4.50 per month for the first set and $1.50 per month for each additional set and $25 underground and $20 overhead installation charges. The city is to receive 4 per cent of the gross for the first five years and 5 per cent after that. Service will be free to public and parochial schools.

In voting for the franchise, Councilman William Jack Adams said he hoped that Western's service would be better in the television cable area than it was in the telephone service, which "leaves something to be desired."

Lindsay Spight, vice president of Televue Systems of Marin, which serves 8,000 customers around Novato, complained about delay by the council in granting the franchise and "bootleg" servicing of 1,000 customers by Western California Telephone Co. He said his firm would like to serve the 1,500 customers served by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in the southern portion of the city.

Attorney Robert D. Carrow, representing Color Cable Inc., said his firm would give 5 per cent to the city up to 3,000 hookups and 6 per cent after that.

Attorney Warren McGuire, representing M. and M. Cable Co., argued against the city's method of dickering with the bidders for the best terms for the city, and claimed his company was the low bidder because it would give the city the largest return.

Western California Telephone Co. had one obvious advantage, though: any overhead cables would have to go on poles it controls jointly with Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Double Execution Scheduled Aug. 29

A double execution Aug. 29 at San Quentin Prison has been set for crime partners Joshua Nicholas Hill and James William Saunders, Death Row inmates since April, 1965.

Judge Adolph Alexander of the Los Angeles County Superior Court set the date after the death sentences were confirmed by the State Supreme Court.

The pair still has resort to appeals through the federal courts.

Hill and Saunders were convicted of the September, 1964, murder of a North Hollywood liquor store clerk during a robbery in which two other men were wounded. A third robber, Mel Madorid, received a life sentence.

The double execution would not be San Quentin's first. Double executions were held in 1958, 1960 and 1961, and in 1962 three men died in the gas chamber on the same day.

Hill was one of the four Death Row inmates who attempted to escape last January.

Stay Given In Birthday Death Date

Calvin Thomas, scheduled to die next Wednesday on his 27th birthday, has been granted a stay of the execution at San Quentin Prison by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The stay, granted late yesterday, was based on Thomas appeal to the court that persons opposed to capital punishment are excluded from California juries and that such a rule is unfair.

Thomas was condemned for throwing a firebomb into a former girl friend's apartment, killing her 3-year-old son.

Stereo Burglary

Two stereo tape players valued at $109 each and $50 in cash were stolen in a break-in Monday night at Francisco Radio, 132 Bellam Boulevard, San Rafael, police said today.

Thief Takes Lots Of Meats

John Limniatis, owner of the Griddle Restaurant at 801 Fourth Street, told police he left the meat in his car at 7:45 p.m. while making a delivery to Cal's Steak House at 1270 Fourth Street.

Gone when he returned were 50 pounds of hamburger, 15½ pounds of salami, 11 pounds of top sirloin, seven and one-half pounds of lamb chops, and a case of soup bones. The meat was valued at $46.51 wholesale.

Hollis Seeks Tomales Bond Vote Recount

A recount of votes in Tomales High School District's $900,000 bond issue election last week will be requested to "to clear the air and dispel bitterness," County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said today.

His announcement came as the official canvas is the county clerk's office confirmed the defeat of the bond proposal by two votes. There were 1002 "no" and 503 "yes" votes, a majority but just short of the necessary two-thirds.

A clerical error in yesterday's canvassing forced a recount of Precinct 4 in Marshall. One ballot was incorrectly listed as having been rejected on the tally sheet accompanying the ballots. It had not.

Tape Recorders Taken By Thieves

William McCreary, 71 Central Avenue, Sausalito, reported today to police that a $150 tape recorder was stolen during the night from his unlocked car, parked in his carport.

Mission Birthday Events Outlined

Plans for Mission San Rafael sesquicentennial observance were outlined yesterday at a meeting of the civic committee arranging the event.

Chairman Raymond H. Shone disclosed that grand (state) officers of the Native Sons of the Golden West will dedicate a commemorative plaque Oct. 18 when the mission founding is reenacted to start a four-day celebration. The San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce is considering sponsorship of an entertainment program and Spanish fiesta street dance that evening, presumably to be highlighted by the crowning of a Mission Fiesta queen.

Rev. Edward Kennedy, St. Raphael's pastor, reported preparations already underway for a "living Rosary" the following day at Albert Field, to be formed by Marin's hundreds of parochial school children.

San Rafael service clubs are being asked to join in a combined luncheon meeting Oct. 20 to hear Marshall Dill, Dominican College history professor, speak on Mission San Rafael Arcangel's founding and history.

At 6 p.m. the same day, Archbishop Joseph T. McCucken and pastors of California's other 20 mission churches will be present for a Mass at St. Raphael's.

Ray Gallagher of San Rafael Marine Repair reported plans for a yacht parade along San Rafael Canal on the afternoon of Oct. 21.

Parade Chairman Arthur Hect predicted 400 entries for "the bigegsh parade San Rafael has ever seen" on Sunday, Oct. 22. A barbecue will follow at the gounds of St. Peter Chanel Seminary, arranged by the Nicasio Parlor of the Native Sons, to conclude the four-day fiesta.

Stolen Property Plea Is Entered

Carl Allen Cole, 38, pleaded guilty in Marin unicipal Court yesterday to concealing stolen property. Judge Peter Allen Smith certified the case to Marin Superior Court for judgment.

Cole, of 83 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael, had household items stolen from Pacific Motor Trucking Co. teminal in Oakland in his former residence at 328 Bayview Street, San Rafael, last Nov. 17 when arrested by San Rafael police.

WHEELCHAIR WORLD

Redwood Senior's Extra Challenge

By ELLEN BRY

Redwood High School seniors will head into the business or college world after receiving their diplomas tomorrow night, but for David Pautsch there is an additional challenge, for he faces the walking world from a wheelchair.

David has completed four years at the high school with a "B" average and will go to College of Marin next fall, hoping eventually to complete study for a degree and teaching credential in American history and government with a minor in business.

"I told mom, well, I've gitten this far, I can't see why I can't go another four or five years," he said. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Roberts of Corte Madera.

David has cerebral palsy. He uses a tape recorder to take notes in class, because his writing is slowed by his handicap. Taking examinations, he is given a bit more time to write then other students, or he talks into the tape recorder.

He came to Redwood from Marindale school, and one high school official admits he had doubts about David's ability to make the grade. "But he's been fine; I wish all the students adjusted as easily as he did," the counselor said.

Students often help push David's wheel chair from class to class, for which he is most thankful. The chair is equipped with a horn, in hopes of clearing the way in crowded high school halls.

David is an avid sports fan, attending many Redwood sports events, especially football games, where he has the advantage of being able to sit on the sidelines. That is, it's an advantage "until they pull an end sweep and those 190-pound fullbacks come at you — you can't wheel too fast on the grass."

He is used to the high school and students seem to take him as just another student. He was even elected student commissioner of finance.

"When people just stare, it gives me a funny feeling — the kids around here are used to me. They just give me a dirty look when I almost run over them."

Medic Building Wins Approval

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved plans for a two-story medical building on South Elisio Drive, submitted by the Judson Perkins Co. of Los Angeles.

The commission recommended zoning the home of Councilman Neil Brixon, 30 la Cuesta Drive, recently annexed from the county as single-family residential It is now unclassified.

The commission approved a change in plans for a cul-de-sac on Niven Way in the Meadowood subdivision, to save one tree.

A meeting to study the sign ordinance was set for next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Subway Study Requested By Transit Unit

The tripartite transportation committee strayed from its objective today and endorsed investigation of the possibility of extending the Bay Area Rapid Transit's future Richmond subway line into central Marin via a tunnel under San Pablo Bay.

Marin county Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Lowell Eddington of Napa County, a member of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board, were selected to ask Bay Area legislators and the Division of Bay Toll Crossings about the feasibility of such a study. They were asked to report back to the committee July 12.

The tripartite committee, composed of two members each of the Golden Gate Bridge Board and the Marin and San Francisco boards of supervisors, was named last year to try to find ways of improving commute bus transportation between Marin and San Francisco.

The committee also directed Golden Gate Bridge engineer Arthur Jenkins to try to recruit James Gibson, an excutive in the transportation division of the State Public Utilities Commission, to a committee screening applicants for the job of general manager of the Marin Transit District.

The bridge district board has endorsed, in principle, use of its funds to help the transit district improve bus transportation into San Francisco.

Clothing Taken

Men's clothing valued at $131 was stolen during the weekend from the unlocked car of George Powers, 28 Knoll Road, San Rafael, police said today. Taken was a sports coat, parka, two shirts and two pair of trousers.

Unendorsed Check Stolen

Theft of an unendorsed government check for $250 in a burglary of the home of Mrs. Darline Mae Parke at 1050 Redwood Highway, Alto, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

She told deputies the check was taken from a bedroom while she was away for several days, but means of entry to the locked room was unknown.

Ann W. Dorcy of Oakland told deputies someone entered her locked car near Marin Civic Center last Sunday, and stole a purse containing a set of keys.

Novato Fete Has First Casualty

The first casualty of Western Weekend, which doesn't start until Sunday, occurred yesterday in Novato.

John W. Rundle, 19, of 729 Cherry Street, Novato, was practicing the fast draw at Bugeia Lane and Topaz Avenue when his .22 caliber revolver discharged as he was twirling it and shot him in the upper right leg, according to Novato police.

He was treated for a flesh wound at Novato hospital.

Fifth of a series

Meet Doubting Donna Montrezza—student.

She now reads over 3,300 words per minute. It all started at an Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Demonstration.

A few months ago Donna Montrezza saw an advertisement for a Reading Dynamics Demonstration which GUARANTEED that her reading speed would be at least tripled, with good comprehension, in the short span of eight weeks; and told about people like herself who had increased their reading speed by seven or eight times. But Donna doubted.

Doubting Donna attended the demonstration fully prepared to challenge the dramatic advertising claims, and, substantially convinced that she could not be helped by what she considered "novelty reading techniques."

At the demonstration Donna saw a motion picture with impressive testimonials from men in high public office who had taken the Reading Dynamics course. She participated in a personal reading test, the results of which were known only to her, and she determined that she read a little faster than the average national reading speed—but still a slow 486 words per minute. After an illustrated lecture, she joined the audience in asking candid questions about the techniques and rewards of Reading Dynamics.

To Donna's surprise she discovered that more than 25,000 students had enrolled in the Northern California Reading Dynamics course—more than twice the current enrollment of Stanford University. She learned that the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics course is the definitive rapid-reading course in the world today. Still—Donna doubted.

But having an adventuresome spirit, she enrolled in the course anyway. "Eight weeks later," Donna says, "my reading speed increased from 486 to over 3,300 words per minute. Today, I can read an average novel in less time than it takes me to watch the Ed Sullivan television show on Sunday night."

A freshman science major at West Valley Junior College, Donna begins four years of hard studies with an incredible talent and skill few of her classmates have. She now reads faster and better than she ever dreamed possible. And Donna still doubts.

She doubts that she ever could have achieved her full potential as a college student—and as a person—had she not equipped herself with the important educational breakthrough called Reading Dynamics.

Purity Site Park Stalls Application

Sausalito City Council last night agreed that development of the former Purity store site must provide for long-term public use of the parking lot as a park.

Mayor Mel Wax and Councilman Jan Paul Dyk pressed for a guarantee of at least 20 years, but Sidney Rudy, attorney representing Trident Productions, suggested a guarantee of five or six years. "If you ask for 20 years," he said, "You're coming very close to buying the land."

"Five years is not much of a concession," said Wax.

Trident Productions seeks a permit to remodel the store into eight shops and a restaurant. The planning commission recommended the use permit for the store, which covers 6,000 of the 9,000-square-foot site.

The applicant also will need a waiver of requirements for 29 off-street parking spaces. City Mgr. George M. Patterson suggested the requirement be 17 spaces, with credit for the 12 existing spaces which would become a park.

Lack of space on the site for parking gives the city a powerful lever to get what it wants from the developer. "Right now, we're in as good a bargaining position as we'll ever be," said Wax. Noting that widening of Bridgeway "is hinged on this park," he said, "We need eight more shops in Sausalito like we need an atom bomb."

Rudy said his client would promise to participate in eventual formation of a parking district, and would back his promise with a $10,000 bond.

The council asked Patterson and City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to negotiate a proposal for the site with Rudy and his client, and continued the application to next Tuesday.

The council endorsed the planning commission's grant of a permit to Mrs. Desmond Mordant to replace the Gate Theater, two doors away from the Purity site, with two to four shops in a pair of two-story 1,500-square-foot structures. Wax praised her plan, which provides an arcade to a waterfront deck, as "an extremely imaginative plan."

It could encourage neighboring property owners to provide a continuous walkway along the Bay, he said.

Mrs. Mordant also will need a variance from requirement for 12 off-street parking spaces.

The Sausalito City Council also:

..ONDINE—Endorsed the planning commission's grant of a permit to Ronald MacAnnan, landlord of Ondine and Trident restaurants, for remodeling.

ADVISORY BOARD — Gave reading to an ordinance making clear jurisdiction of the Community Appearances Advisory Board over vending machines, banners, intensity of lights, land contours and landscaping.

GLEN COURT — Gave first reading to an ordinance setting no-parking tow-away zones on Glen Court.

SANTA ROSA—Deferred a request for no-parking zone on Santa Rosa Avenue, pending notice to property owners.

BEER LICENSE—Agreed to send a city representative to an Alcoholic Beverage Control Department hearing June 27 at 10 a.m. in city hall on a request by Tarantino's for a beer license.

Councilmen Cite Route 17 Fears

The San Anselmo City Council last night made another appeal to the state not to route Highway 17 through San Anselmo.

The council unanimously approved a resolution addressed to Gov. Ronald Reagan, the Legislature, the California Highway Commission and the Division of Highways, asking "immediate removal of the threat" that Highway 17 might go through the city.

Councilman Robert M. Scott wrote the resolution, which said the freeway would "obliterate a substantial portion of the town's business," and that "with the probable loss in property tax and sales tax, the city would be incapable of self-government without a drastic tax increase" of more than 60 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Bigger Retainer Fee For Attorney Asked

Sausalito City Council's finance committee last night recommended that the monthly retainer paid City Atty. Leland H. Jordan be increased from $400 to $600.

The committee also endorsed City Mgr. George M. Patterson's recommendation that $3,750 be budgeted to codify city ordinances. The 678 ordinances now fill three filing drawers. Codification is expected to take a year.

Total budget recommended for legal services in fiscal 1968 was $13,400, including $2,400 for litigation expense. The budget for fiscal 1967 totaled $8,475, of which $6,800 was spent.

The last budget hearing is scheduled today at 7:30 p.m. in city hall, when the committee will review budget proposals for the fire department, ambulance service and civil defense.

Innocent Plea To Armed Robbery

Peggy Ann Priesman, 26, and Joseph Jarvis, 28, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court Monday to a charge of the April 29 armed robbery of the Bottle Shop in Sausalito. Jury trial was scheduled for the week of July 31.

They also are charged with shooting at a Sausalito police officer and a Sausalito resident after the $297 robbery.

30,000 Korean Students Battle Police On Vote

SEOUL (AP) — More than 30,000 students defied a government ban today and waged violent demonstrations for the third day in Seoul charging that parliamentary elections last Thursday were rigged.

Twelve universities were closed in Seoul, Pusan and Taegu, but students from 31 universities and high schools in Seoul battled riot police for six hours, throwing rocks and chanting slogans as the police wielded clubs and fired tear gas.

The police said 49 of their men were injured, six of them seriously. About 50 students and five high school teachers were hurt by police clubs.

Police said 423 students and 14 adults were picked up for investigation.

Sausalito Adopts New Pact On Freeway Maintenance

Sausalito City Council last night eagerly adopted a new state highway maintenance agreement which relieves the city of its responsibility to maintain landscaping on ramps to Highway 101.

"It may upset the governor's budget, and he'll have to fire a few more psychiatrists," said Mayor Mel Wax.

"I'm not sure they (the state) realize what they've done," said City Atty. Leland H. Jordan.

The new agreement provides that all maintenance in the highway right-of-way will be done by the state.

Turns Herself In

A 16-year-old girl who ran away from Juvenile Hall last week turned herself in to Tiburon sheriff's deputies today at 5:30 a.m. She told them she had been staying with friends.

City's Founder Statue Presented

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 13-foot statue depicting Capt. Juan B. De Anza, San Francisco's founder, was presented to the city Monday by the Mexican state of Sonora.

The copper piece, valued at $40,000 was made by prominent Mexican artist Julian Martinez. It was offered as a "symbol of friendship and goodwill of Mexico for San Francisco."

Jet Oil On Salads Poisons South Viets

As a result, it was learned yesterday, at least 28 South Vietnamese have fallen ill. Some reports said they are paralyzed. No deaths have been reported so far.

Grant To Help In Waste Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service announced today the award of a $117,193 grant to San Francisco to help finance development of a solid wastes incinerator capable of meeting rigid air pollution restrictions with a minimum of control equipment.

The project is to determine the feasibility of an incinerator with a minimum of cleaning and collection equipment for the control of stack emissions.

Project engineers hope that more complete combustion will be achieved with a new type of mechanical grate and better utilization of air in combustion chambers of an improved design, officials said.

Hippie Free Over Picture

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A hippie shop owner was found innocent yesterday of charges involving a picture displayed in his window showing a nude couple sitting next to each other.

Everett Doyle Phillips, 27, was arrested March 9 after students were noticed looking at the photograph in his store, which is located across the street from Franklin Junior High School.

He was charged with displaying an obscene photo and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. A Municipal Court jury cleared him of both charges Tuesday, ending a seven-day trial.

Bridge Board Shouldn't Evade Race Bias Issue

The rash of unfavorable publicity which the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District received over the firing of three painters is in part the bridge directors' own making.

The painters' union is to be lauded for calling for a review of what it feels is "discriminatory hiring practices." But it took the occasion to go overboard into areas not legitimately within its jurisdiction.

The inaction of the former and the excesses of the latter have combined to blow the controversy all out of proportion.

Two Negro painters were fired by General Manager James Adam on charges of "incompetency." The painters contend it was racial discrimination, and the matter is now before the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

When the two Negro painters asked for a hearing before the bridge directors, the "hearing" fizzled from the outset because a majority of the bridge directors decided that the racial discrimination question should not be heard at all. The directors also took refuge behind the bridge district laws which give the general manager complete authority over hiring and firing.

The laws, however, do not preclude the directors from giving a hearing in cases where employees may have a just grievance. The bridge directors could and should have given the two painters a full hearing.

Now the two painters must seek their day in court before the FEPC.

In the case of the third fired painter, Paul Powell of Mill Valley, the bridge directors clearly bungled. Because he is a Caucasian, Powell has no clear recourse to the FEPC. If he has a grievance against General Manager Adam, his only appeal is to the bridge directors. The directors, thus far, have denied him his only avenue of appeal, short of an actual lawsuit.

The bridge district's employment procedures, like Caesar's wife, should be above reproach. Any person genuinely interested in racial justice can properly join in applauding the painters union for challenging hiring practices which carry any suspicion of discrimination.

But as we mentioned at the outset, the painters union seems to have been carried away. Union officials started out with legitimate questions in the field of employment procedure, then extended their denunciations into areas far removed. They have questioned the bridge district's $5 million loan from the state, and accused the directors of trying to perpetuate their jobs.

Union officials can properly be recognized as somewhat of an authority in matters involving hiring practices. But when they begin sounding off on financing and other matters relating to bridge operation and maintenance, they have gone for afield, and their denunciations are without authoritative foundation.

The bridge directors must bear a share of the blame for the current debacle because of the poor way in which they handled the public hearings, or non-hearings, and the arbitrary manner in which they denied painter Powell his only recourse for appeal.

Painters union officials, in turn, would be well advised to limit their public utterances to an area in which they have legitimate rights and adequate background — the health and welfare of employees and non-discrimination in hiring and firing.

More decisiveness and the willingness to get at the facts on the part of the bridge directors, together with more restraint on the part of overly vocal union officials should serve to throw more light and less heat on this issue.

Barbecue And Patio Time

June is the unofficial opening of Marin Barbecue time. The aroma of charcoal, the sizzling of the meat on the grill, the spicy fragrance of the barbecue sauce — just thinking about it stimulates our salivary glands.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

The Soaring Education Costs And Some Unanswered Questions

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In pursuing the subject of what causes high taxes for California, it is found that the category of education is the highest in receipt and disbursement of public funds.

Previously, this column reported that welfare disbursements from all sources of tax money amounted to approximately one billion dollars a year.

ALTHOUGH WELFARE expenditures account for a high expenditure category, they are less than a third of the amount the taxpayers donate annually for education

The annual education bill, as near as can be compiled, amounts to $3,467,863,846.

The state Department of Education says public school support for elementary and secondary education amounts to $2,703,148,483 a year. This figure is for the 1965-66 fiscal year. Costs go up every year.

REMAINDER OF THE expenditure was for junior colleges, state colleges, the University of California, and various categories allied with education, such as the state's scholarship program, teachers' retirement and the coordinating council for higher education.

The funds expended are from all sources, including federal, state, and local districts.

However, although from various sources, the amount expended represents dollars out of the taxpayer pocket.

It is somewhat difficult to round up the total figures for education in California, due to the fact there is no central place where they can be obtained. Also, many different state and local agencies are involved, which may be one reason the public does not often get a total figure as to how much it is contributing to the educational establishment.

THUS, WHILE IT cannot be said this information is hidden or kept secret, the very vastness of the program and the number of government agencies involved precludes concise and current information from being available to the public.

The almost astronomical amount of money spent each year for the educational facility is bound to bring up some pertinent questions. One of them is whether or not the taxpayers are receiving nearly $3.5 billion a year benefit, or more to the point, are the young men and women who are the direct recipients of benefits from this expenditure, getting their money's worth?

Also, is it necessary to spend this amount of public money, derived only from taxes, to support an efficient and effective educational system, or have the educators over a period of years constructed an elaborate bureaucracy which contributes more to their own well-being than it does to the public welfare.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

'Last Chance' For San Anselmo Citizens

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The recent Town Meeting in San Anselmo resulted in numerous recommendations to the City Council with a view towards upgrading the image of San Anselmo. Since many of these recommendations involve expenditures, the budget-hearings now being held are the logical place to press for implementation of these recommendations.

Unfortunately, I am informed that very little interest is shown, if attendance, or rather lack of attendance, is any measure of interest. The final and decisive hearing is scheduled for Thursday, June 15, at 7:30 p.m. We citizens deserve the government we get and are, at least in part, responsible for the manner in which our taxes are spent. Therefore, I urge every interested citizen to attend and to be prepared to plead his cause.

Benevolence Just Too Much

Editor, Independent-Journal:

No wonder we get higher and higher taxes in Marin! I think all of our county supervisors ought to be called down in person and at the polls for agreeing to pay the owners of a one-fourth acre and boat shop the highest of three appraisals for their property needed by the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control as reported and illustrated on the front page of the June 6 I-J!!

The three appraisals were $43,000, $47,000, and then a very high $63,000, and instead of paying the average price of the three ($52,000), or demanding a fourth appraisal because of the unrealistic gap of a 50 per cent difference, our supervisors as a body without a fight or a fuss gave our money to these landowners!!

And why the landowners were entitled to a third appraisal (at county expense no doubt) after receiving two with only a 10 per cent differential is another matter for concern and contemplation.

Also to be questioned and considered is the validity of any of these appraisals since there was such a huge gap between the low and high of them. Something sounds out of line in quite a few places, wouldn't you say, unless, of course, you just did a poor job of reporting which I find hard to believe even though hoping so.

I trust I'm not the only shocked, irate and curious Marinite who intends to personally question our supervisors about their latest benevolence!

College Instructor Didn't Write Letter

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Since I am the only J. C. Staley listed in the Marin County Telephone Directory, I wish it to be known that I am not the originator of the June 9 letter to the editor bearing this signature.

Regardless of my position on the subject, I certainly do not feel that it arouses me to the point to which I must address the editor and the readers of this newspaper. However, the possibility of someone identifying me with a letter belaboring a rather inane point obviously does.

Customers Proud Of Their Newspaperboy

Editor, Independent-Journal:

For some time now I have been intending to write to you about our newspaperboy and after last night could not put it off any longer.

We have been taking the Independent-Journal for a good many years now and have never had the service we are now getting.

Ever since he took over the route, and I notice, all the neighbors on the street get the paper right at their door. Last night, June 8, he had apparently missed someone and went back over his route to check with everyone to make sure they had received their paper. He is a boy to be proud of. He also always uses the driveways instead of running over the lawns with his bike.

Benefits Great In College Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Congratulations on your editorial analyzing the economics of establishing a university campus in an area and illustrating the many benefits that accrue to the area in spite of the fact that the land is removed from the tax rolls.

Besides the obvious construction budget and permanent staff, there is still another economic benefit which you did not mention, namely the fact that the removal of such land from the tax roll actually results in an increase in total tax base rather than a shrinking tax base since the increase in land values around such a desirable institution more than compensates for the property taxes initially lost.

We already have a good example of how this works in the Point Reyes National Seashore where local and surrounding property values have increased markedly with only the anticipation of this development.

Time and again cities, counties and states have found that public parks and other recreation land do not have to cost anything where accurate assessment practices can see to it that the community created increase in land values reverts to the community through honest assessment of surrounding properties, thereby more than offsetting the loss in assessed valuation caused by the creation of the parks, etc.

Kettenhofen's Idea Good One

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am delighted to find that Kettenhofen feels that the bizarre types should be deleted from the relief rolls, and I hope that the rest of the county will support his recommendation.

There is no great pleasure in paying taxes, but when such taxes go for the support of such unattractive non-producers, who look upon the rest of us as fools for working for a living, the task really becomes odious. The suggestions that we not pay taxes, made by another writer, yesterday, might be seconded in this cause, also. If the coffers became empty, not only would the deadwood be pared from employment, but the dead-heads (or as they call themselves, the acid-heads) would also be taken off our backs.

Whether the parasite be a flea, tick, louse, or "hippie," remove it.

TRY AND STOP ME

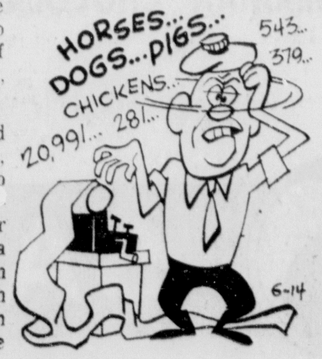
VITAL STATISTIC: The Hollywood office of the Humane Association divulges that a total of 20,991 animals appeared in motion pictures and on TV in 1966. Included are 14,438 horses, 2,204 head of cattle, 1,007 chickens, 543 dogs, 379 buffalo, 290 mules, 281 pigeons, 125 turkeys, 103 pigs, one vulture and one buzzard. I believe I know the vulture and the buzzard personally.



FROM THE Southland comes the authentic story of the teacher of a high school senior English class who asked for interpretations of Sir John Suckling's:

"Why so pale and wan, fond lover?

Prithee, why so pale?

Will, when looking well can't move her,

Looking ill prevail?

Prithee, why so pale?"

Of a class of 22, the answers of six were more or less like this one: "I figure there were these two young lovers — she was named Prithee and he was called Will — and Will came down with a virus or something."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Force, Not Diplomacy, Was Key In Middle East Crisis

WASHINGTON — Let there be no delusion: It was not diplomacy which averted the worst in the Middle East; it was force.

Right now the diplomats ought to be very humble — not expansive — for they have so much to be humble about.

Neither the big powers nor the smaller powers nor, despite all its resolutions, the U.N. Security Council made any significant contribution to shaping the course of events in the Arab-Israeli conflict or to averting the catastrophe of a worse war.

THE TRUTH is that the diplomats did not avert war in the Middle East. They failed to avert war. Nasser peremptorily threw out the United Nations peace-keeping forces and U Thant's almost reflex acceptance of this threatening action reflects either inherent weakness of the Secretary General or inherent weakness of the United Nations.

Force, not diplomacy, dominated Nasser's actions against Israel and force, not diplomacy, saved Israel from the consequences.

We delude ourselves if we let the impression stand that anybody's diplomacy or any talk at the U.N. did anything to sheathe force, or the danger of force in the Middle East crisis of 1967. We will not do better next time unless we see this clearly.

THERE IS MORE for the diplomats to be humble about.

It is suggested that secret contacts between the White House and the Kremlin helped make it possible for the U.S. and the Soviet Union to come together in the end to promote a cease-fire. There is no evidence that any behind-the-scenes talk between Washington and Moscow accomplished anything whatsoever.

Each supported the ceasefire for opposite reasons. Moscow opposed the cease-fire when it thought Egypt would crush Israel and supported the cease-fire when it saw that Israel was crushing Egypt.

It is suggested that the diplomats prudently saw to it that the U.S. and the USSR would not be drawn into a direct confrontation and thus turn an Egyptian-Israeli war into a world war. Obviously neither wanted such a confrontation, neither wanted to get so dangerously near to world war, but it wasn't diplomacy which prevented the events which could have taken us to the brink.

IT WAS ISRAEL'S fierce and decisive use of force in its own defense which dissolved the crisis with such conclusive rapidity that the danger of U.S. and Soviet involvement was removed. Perhaps both would have avoided involvement anyway, but we can't know because events never reached that point.

Some will be tempted to think that because the Security Council finally and unanimously passed a resolution calling for peace it thereby contributed to peace and reclaimed some of its effectiveness. The truth is that the Soviet Union immobilized the Security Council when it believed it was in its interests to do so and went along only when the trend of the fighting made it in Moscow's interest to do so.

I AM NOT SAYING that it was not wise for the U. S. to maintain quiet contacts with the Soviet government during the crisis. It was. I am not saying that it was not useful to have the U. N. handy so that the decision to call for a cease-fire — reached outside the Security Council — could be channeled through it. It was.

But what we need to see frankly, at this point, is that diplomacy did not resolve or contain the crisis in the Middle East. Only Israel's brave use of military force to defend itself resolved the crisis and prevented it from reaching a point at which the U. S. and the Soviet Union might have become involved in a perilous confrontation.

The whole chain of events which forced Israel to such a heroic self-defense will likely rise again if the Soviets and the U. S. cannot join in the common cause of building a bridge over which the Arabs and the Israelis can live and move and have their being.

LET'S NOT congratulate the diplomats — but ask them what they are now going to do to build the peace.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Jealousy Averts A Deeper Crisis

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is intriguing evidence that the inflamed Middle East would now be embroiled in a much wider conflict except for the fury of a woman scorned.

The jilted wife of a Soviet spy is being credited by members of the ruling Greek military junta with altering the course of history by uncovering a Moscow-directed plot to take over Greece and Cyprus, the strategic Mediterranean island.

SCHEDULED TO take place simultaneously with Nasser's war-triggering moves in the Middle East, the Red coups were narrowly averted by the swift seizure of power by the Greek military, according to U. S. intelligence authorities.

The military's take-over and the resulting round-up of hundreds of Russian agents in Greece and on Cyprus followed the cracking of a Soviet spy ring in Turin, Italy, late in March.

The massive arrests, which included anti-monarchist leader Andreas Papandreou, stemmed from the seizure and confession of Soviet spy, Giorgio "The Flying Madman" Rinaldi-Ghisileri after he was fingered by his 52-year-old wife.

In between aerial shows in 1963, when he set an Italian record for free-fall parachuting, her husband set up a Mediterranean area espionage network for the Kremlin, Mrs. Rinaldi claimed.

The objective reportedly was to set the stage for Red coups in Greece and Cyprus as part of a double-pronged Soviet probe into the Middle East.

Once these governments were under Communist control, the Kremlin apparently planned to exert pressure on Turkey to help drive U.S. and British forces from the Eastern Mediterranean.

ALL WAS GOING AS planned by Moscow until Mrs. Rinaldi decided to bare her soul to Italian authorities. After the latter confirmed her tale of international espionage by Rinaldi's own confession, they alerted high Greek military officials.

When these officers learned that hundreds of Soviet agents were involved, they decided that the only way to block the takeover was to stage a coup of their own. The Greek military acted with such speed and secrecy that they caught everyone by surprise.

Historians may also shed some light on the mysterious visit of Israel's General Moshe Dayan to Athens the day before the April 23 coup.

About all that is now known is what the general's novelist daughter, Miss Yael Dayan, told British newsmen on landing in London after flying from Athens following the coup.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

'Ann's Poetry Cat' Brings Applause From Feline Lover

I've heard of Siamese cats, Persian cats, manx cats and many others. But, in the Bel Aire Journal, I read for the first time of a "poetry cat."

AS A CAT lover, I noticed and admired this poem by Mary Miller entitled "Ann's Poetry Cat."

Opens her jaws
Then she gets up
And stands on four
Long stiff legs
She shows her sharp teeth
Lifting herself
She arches her back
She lets herself down
With particular care
And pads away

I NOTE ALSO in the Journal that young John Hoffmire is following his dad's footsteps in one direction. John Jr. was elected vice president of the student body at Bel Aire School for the second semester which closes this week. John's dad is Mayor of Tiburon.

THERE IS A STORY in the Journal about a teacher, Donald B. Cowan, who is moving away from Bel Aire School. In an interview with Cowan, reported by C. Gay Nieda, when asked what he hates the most, Cowan said "long hair on little boys." One senses Cowan's comment might indicate a great restraint in his answer.

Old number nine turns out to be a flying fire engine, which "flew all over the world" to short-circuit the robots and rust 'em."

It took over the world in a week. It also used up the world's entire water supply. Perhaps there will be a sequel on how the scientists coped with a worldwide drought.

ONE OF THE heart-warming things about the story is that, although the author has been obviously impressed by tales of invaders from outer space, he evidently also has a strong feeling that firemen and fire engines perform heroic feats, even to saving the world.

Need I add that Mickey's dad is a volunteer fireman in Tiburon?

Things Can't Be All Bad Department . . . In a recent issue of the San Quentin News, columnist Don Nivens writes that the editor, John Showalter, insisted he include a picture in his column, about which he comments, "Send now for a copy suitable for framing. I'm used to it."

A sense of humor must be of real value in San Quentin, as it is in other kinds of prisons we get into on the outside.

THOSE MARKED patrol cars on view along Highway 101 in commute hours, are good reminders to glance at the old speedometer and keep a sharper lookout at traffic ahead, behind and all around, to and from work.

Patrol officers report that accessible marked cars also sometimes bring quick reports from other motorists of cars driving hazardously, so that patrolmen can reach speeding or ziz-zagging cars before they get too far away.

If Tiburon gets a permanent tram service, perhaps it could be used part-time for ferrying guests to and from parties or meetings at homes on narrow roads in Belvedere, including Corinthian Island. That would help another local traffic-parking problem. Just another item for Tiburon's tram suggestion box.

Reaching 'way back in the bottom drawer of my desk at the office for a paper that slipped through, I pulled out a large dark grey sleeveless man's sweater.

IF ANY I-J reporter who formerly worked at the Tiburon bureau is chilly, he can pick up his sweater here any time. It's a little large for Betty Frost or me.

Washington's Social Scene Is Hurting With Mideast Crisis

WASHINGTON — The breaking off of diplomatic relations between the Arab countries and the United States may have catastrophic results in Washington. Because the Arab embassies in this town did most of the entertaining, it is now predicted that 70 per cent of all of the important people in Washington may starve to death.

An evening never failed to go by that one Arab embassy or another didn't have a sumptuous dinner or cocktail party, and since the same people were always in attendance, many of them have been cut off from their only decent meal of the day.

ONE SOCIETY reporter in Washington, who never missed an Arab party, was found wandering in the streets, dazed and starving because she didn't have any place to go. The Red Cross has promised to take care of her until diplomatic relations with the Arab countries are resumed.

In the meantime an emergency committee has been formed to take care of the thousands of other dinner guests who were innocent victims of the tragic events in the Middle East.

The Department of Agriculture has offered to supply food stamps to anyone who can produce a canceled invitation from an Arab embassy. The war on poverty office has given out contracts to Washington caterers to provide hors d'oeuvres for famished Washington citizens and every effort is being made to relocate couples to other embassy dinner parties where relations with the United States are still good.

ONE IDEA WHICH is still under consideration is that if the Arab countries do not reestablish relations with the United States, the Arab embassies could be turned into carry-out shops and people would be handed their food through a window.

Many people are blaming the Israeli embassy for the dinner crisis in Washington. "The Israelis knew when they attacked Sinai that the Arab embassies wouldn't be able to serve dinners very long. They were obviously helped by British and American waiters."

ONE OF THE surprising results was that before the Middle East crisis turned into a war, the Soviet embassy in Washington, which had provided all the caviar for Arab parties, had promised the Arabs that they would take over their entertaining in case the Middle East countries got into trouble. But now the Russians have backed away from their pledge and won't even give the Arabs a cup of sugar.

The United States, of course, is remaining mum during the dinner-shortage crisis. A spokesman for the State Department said, "All we want is peace on embassy row. We will remain neutral in word, deed and thought." Later the White House said it wasn't exactly neutral and that although it would not get involved directly it was still pledged to help anyone who ran out of plates.

Data Processing Catches Errors, Fraudulent Claims

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

I recently visited our federal income tax returns. That's the ones we filed April 17. They are at the Internal Revenue Service's Western Service Center in Ogden, Utah.

This is an amazing place. All federal tax returns for the Western Region comprising Montana, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Washington, Oregon, California, Alaska and Hawaii are processed here. In 1967 they will process more than 25 million returns.

I thought it might be interesting to follow our tax return from the time it was mailed in Marin County. The return was received in the San Francisco district office. There, any checks were detached and the return was sent to Ogden where it was sorted.

The center in Utah covers more than 23 acres, with more than seven acres in buildings, and employs more than 1,400 permanent employees and has more than 3,200 employees during the peak season.

After the returns are sorted at the center, they are sent to the editing and coding section where first someone checks to be sure the return is complete, and all the rquired documents, such as W-2s are attached.

After being coded and edited the returns are sent to key punch operators who punch all the pertinent information from the tax return onto IBM cards. These cards are verified and then sent to the machines for processing.

It has been estimated that 12,000 additional employees would be required to do the processing if they didn't use data processing.

There the cards turn up about 18 per cent errors. The machine prints out a list of errors. This list is sent to the adjustment section where they match it with the taxpayer's return and see if they can determine what the error is.

About four per cent of the errors are made by the computer center and these are easy to correct and send through again. About 14 per cent of the errors are made by the taxpayer and if you've made an error in your tax return you receive a notice from the center.

With some 11 million individual returns filed in the Western Region this means something more than one and one-half million notices to be sent to individual taxpayers.

The data processing system is saving us, the taxpayer, literally millions of dollars in the cost of handling tax returns. It also is saving us millions of dollars in fraudulent refund claims.

The Internal Revenue Service turned up the fact that more than six million duplicate refunds were requested by taxpayers throughout the country since data processing started.

How many of these would have been caught without data processing is problematical, how many duplicate refunds were paid before data processing nobody really knows, but with data processing it is highly unlikely that any duplicate refunds will be paid.

In the East they found that more than 30,000 returns were filed with the same social security number. An investigation showed that one of the chain variety stores had sold some inexpensive wallets with a facsimile of a social security card in the window of the wallet and the number on this facsimile card was the number being used by some 30,000 people who had purchased these wallets.

You're a number and so am I. We aren't named individuals any more although our last name is still very important. That is, the first four letters of our surname are important.

The Internal Revenue Service punches into the machine all nine digits of your social security number plus all of your name and address. However, the machines only use the social security number plus the first four letters of you surname for identification.

Now, we can save the Internal Revenue Service millions of dollars in time and effort in punching cards if when we file our 1967 returns in 1968 we use the piggy back label which the service will send to us with our blank income tax return forms for 1967.

When you complete your income tax returns next year you should remove the top label from the package sent to you by the service and stick it on the tax return you are sending in.

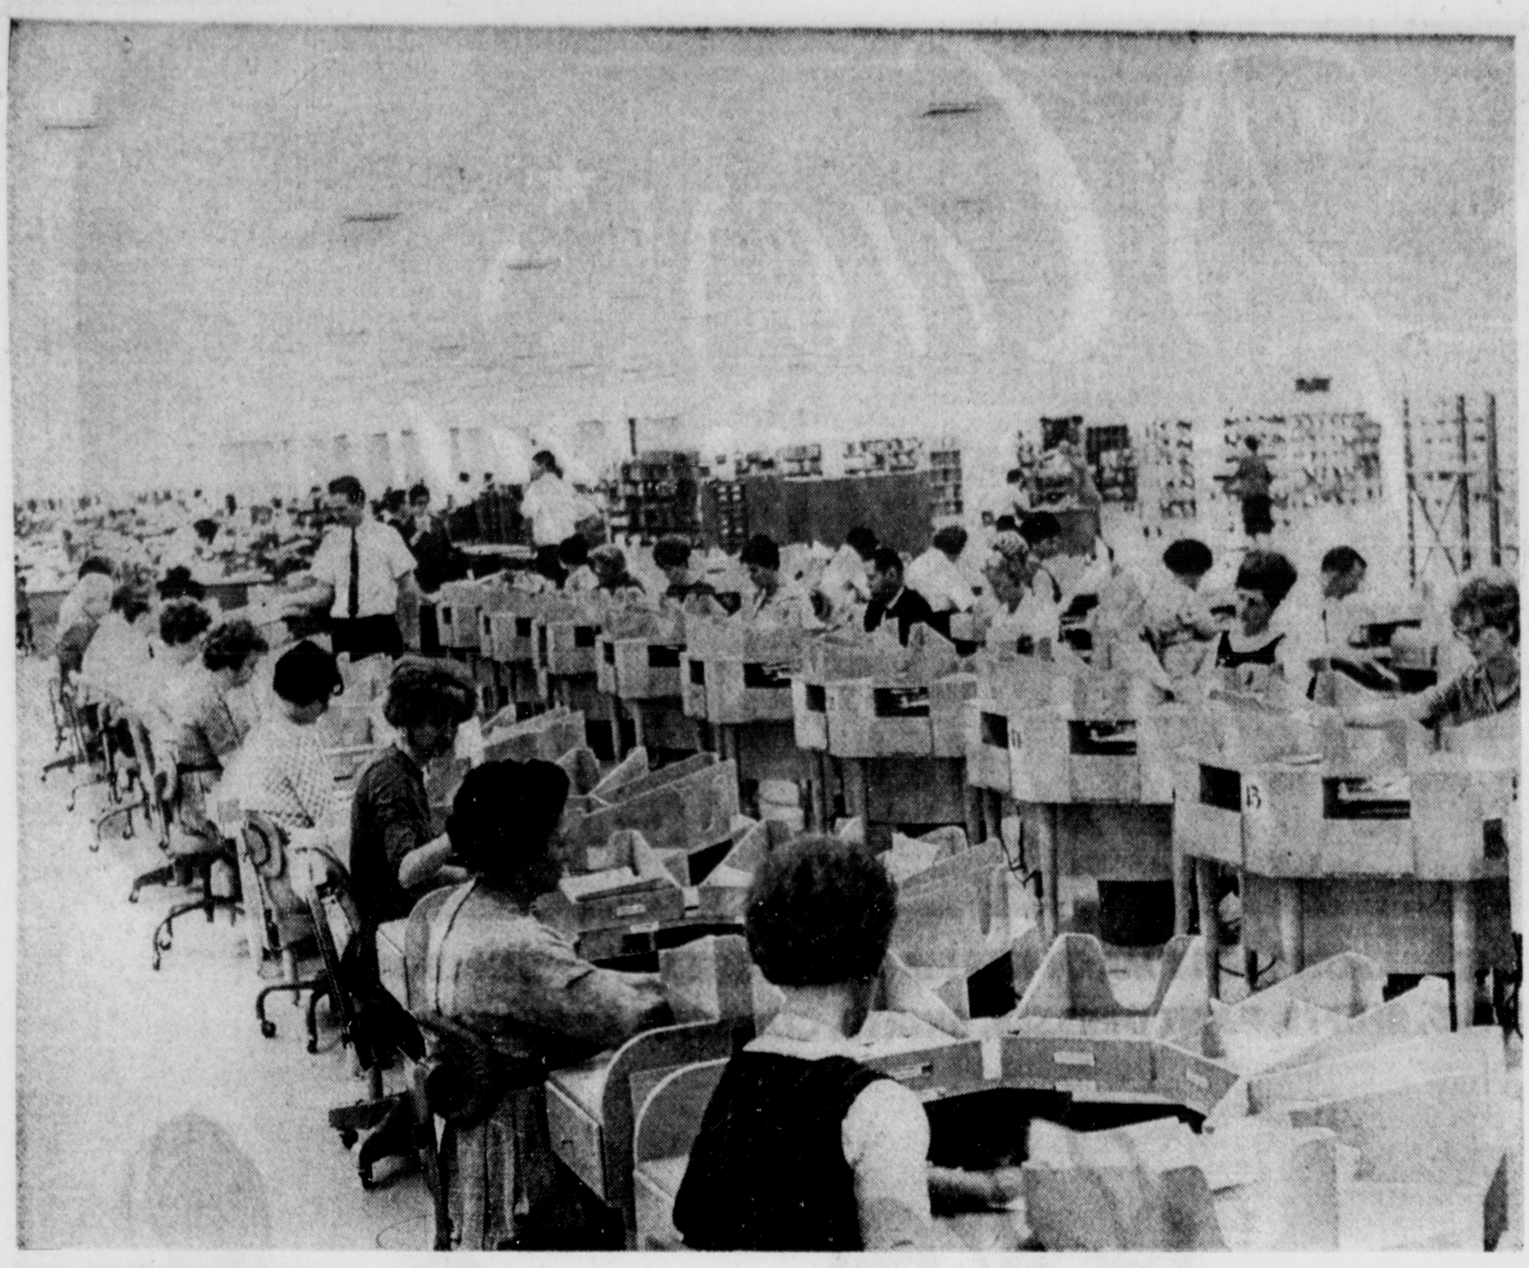
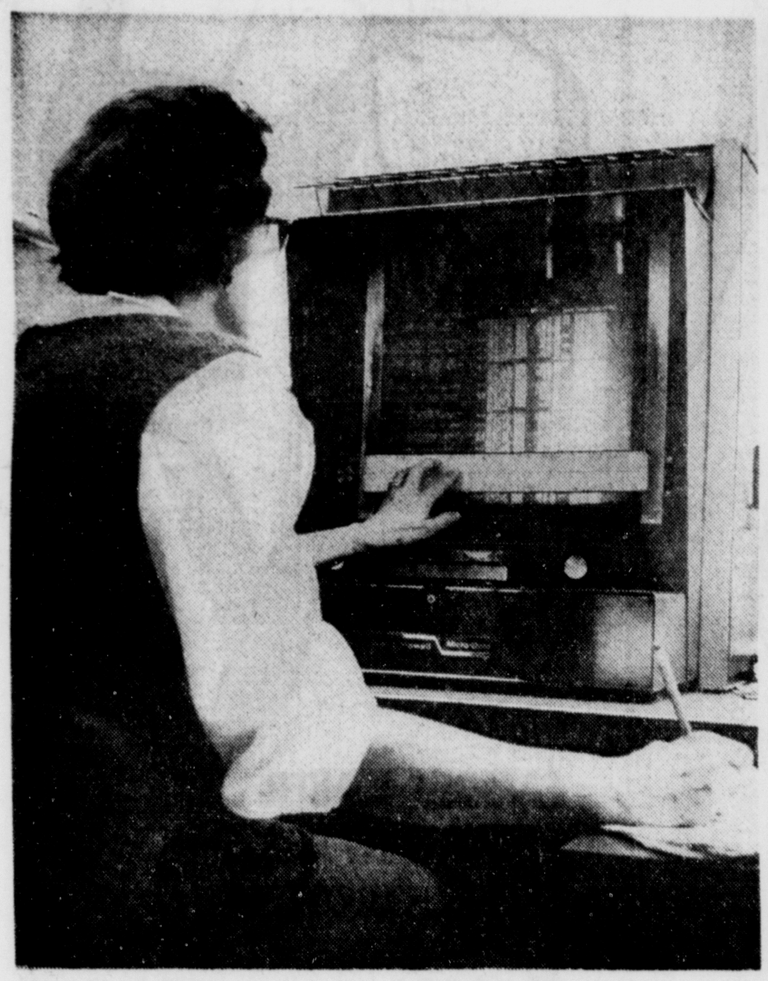
Many returns are flagged for audit as the result of data processing. There was more auditing of individual returns this year than in any year in the past and there will undoubtedly continue to be a great deal more in the future.

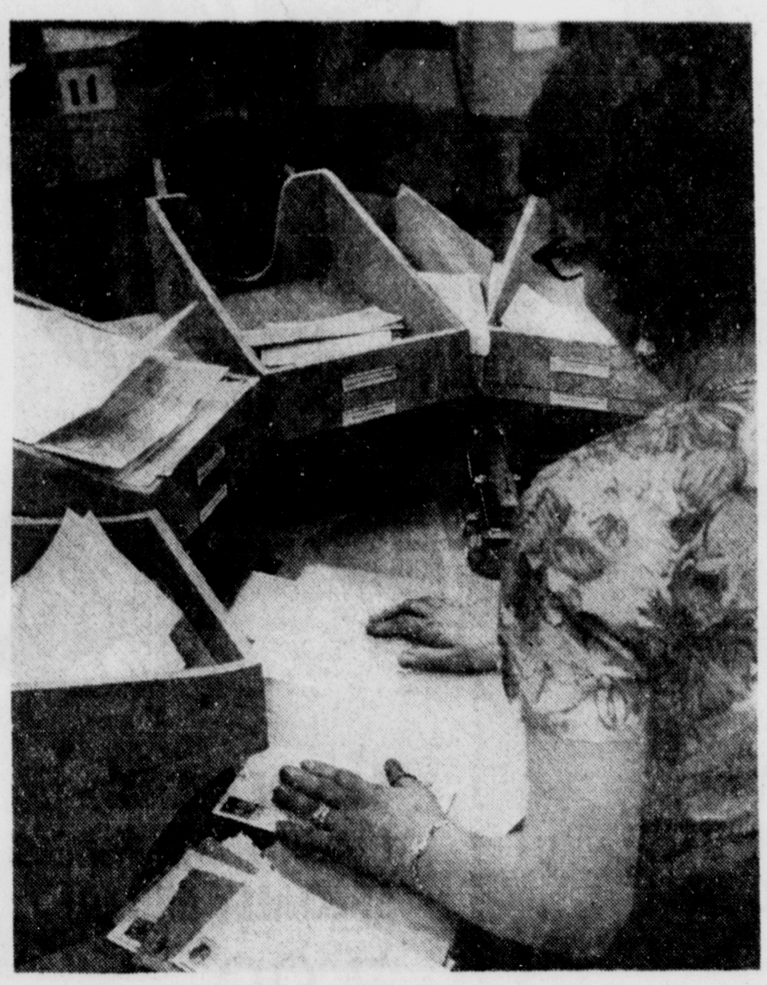
When we filed our 1967 income tax returns we will be able to file directly with Ogden, Utah and this hopefully will expedite handing of the returns and release additional personnel in the San Francisco office for auditing and adjustment work.



RECEIVING AND SORTING—Twenty-five million returns were processed at the Internal Revenue Western Service Center's receiving and sorting unit in Ogden, Utah.



DATA TAPED—Name index registers and identification number registers were listed on micro-film tape, and the reader seeking information checks by using microfilm reader equipment.



SORTING BINS—Into designated boxes go returns with refund due, with taxes due, full paid returns, business returns, individual returns, etc.

COMPUTER COMPLEX — Tax information is transferred from punched cards to magnetic tape and then mathematically verified and analyzed for adequate information.

CARDS PUNCHED—Key punch operators, 960 in all, transfer tax information from returns to punched cards.

Six Marinites Mexico-Bound As 'Amigos'

Six Marinites, who have paid $100 apiece for the privilege of helping others during summer vacation, will leave tomorrow for Mexico, led by a young Japanese student who hasn't seen her homeland for four years.

They will join 120 other Bay Area students and advisers who are members of Amigos Anonymous. The "amigos" constitute a private Peace Corps, organized six years ago by Rev. Joseph O'Looney, Newman Club chaplain at University of California.

SUMMER PROJECTS

Chairman of the Marin contingent is Setsuko Nakasayu, 23, of Kobe, Japan, who graduated this month from Dominican College of San Rafael. While attending Dominican the past four years, she has lived with Mr. and Mrs. John Enos of 1303 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Others in the group leaving tomorrow are: Florence Mancebo of 29 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, student counselor at Terra Linda High School; Blake Rodgers of 1 Antoinette Drive, San Rafael, a student at St. Patrick's Seminary in Menlo Park; Beth Haran of 22 Bryn Mawr Drive, San Rafael, College of Marin sophomore, and Vicky Presson of 15 Rafael Drive, San Rafael, senior at Dominican.

THIRD YEAR

Also in the group are Susanna Reid of 229 Beach Road, Belvedere, a senior at U.C., Berkeley, and Donna Copren of Sierraville, Sierra County, a senior at Dominican College.

For Miss Nakasayu, this will be the third summer she has devoted to the program, giving up the opportunity to visit her parents, two sisters and a brother in Kobe.

She plans to enter San Francisco State College in the fall and hopes to see her family in the summer of 1968, if she can tear herself away from the projects she has helped develop in Michoacan and Guanajuato states.

"I like this kind of thing. I like working with people," she said yesterday as she prepared to leave.

FIVE-DAY TRIP

The Marin "amigos" will board a chartered bus at Berkeley and expect to arrive five days later on the high plateau between Mexico City and Guadalajara, where they will be assigned to projects in the villages of Apaseo el Grande, Tarimoro, Selaya and Empelme Escabero in Guanajuato and in Morelia and Huandacareo in Michoacan.

Each is paying his own fare, Miss Nakaysu said. All other expenses of the two months stay were raised in Amigos Anonymous fund drives in the Bay Area.

Marinites Impressed By Rotary Convention

Seven Marin County Rotarians, representing all six clubs in the county, were among the 19,563 delegates attending the recent Rotary International convention in Nice, France.

"The Rotarians were housed for 60 miles along the Riviera — from Cannes to Menton," said Irving D. Chapman of San Rafael, who has just returned from the event.

Chapman, president-elect of San Rafael Rotary, said, "It was truly a wonderful international meeting."

He said he conversed with delegates from Israel, Jordan and Iran, as well as with many others from the 101 countries represented.

Ironically, he declared, people from the Medeast, who were a week later engaged in the war, were attending the session called, "A Festival of Friendship."

"The relationships between those people I met were compietely harmonious at all times. I talked to Israelis who felt there was no serious threat to world peace.

"The keynote speaker at the last plenary session was Lord Avon, the former Sir Anthony Eden and prime minister of England. He issued a warning to the world 10 years ago that conditions could develop in the Middle East and those feelings were proved true. He called for an increased role by NATO."

Chapman related that he met a South Indian Rotarian with whom he worked to try to see if there might be a way for Rotarians in India to assist Dr. Richard S. Hahn of Belvedere in his proposed "Alliance for Health" project in Coorg, India.

Chapman and his wife, Maxine, toured in Italy, Switzerland, England, and Ireland after the convention closed May 25.

"While touring in Rome and taking a picture of the Coliseum," commented the Rotarian, "I heard a voice behind me say: 'Turn around so I can take your picture.' As I turned around, there was Jack Blaine, a good friend of ours. He and his wife had flown over to surprise us and continued the rest of the two-week tour with us." The Blaines are also from San Rafael.

Marin Rotarians at the convention included John L. Novak, Novato, Novato Rotary; Dr. John H. Manwaring, Ross, San Anselmo Rotary; Dr. William H. Pemberton, Mill Valley, and Arthur M. Lebow, Ross, both of Mill Valley Rotary; George J. Elkington, Sausalito, Sausalito Rotary, and Roy J. Franchini, San Anselmo, Terra Linda Rotary.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Fear Of Respiratory Illness Is Linked To Air Obsessions

VAN DELLEN

Some persons have a neurotic obsession about changes in temperature. They are constantly opening and closing windows and putting on or taking off sweaters or vests. Their morbid preoccupation with drafts and sensations of heat and cold stems from fear of developing a respiratory infection.

Most of us want to avoid colds and do not want to be uncomfortably hot or chilled. The body has the remarkabe ability to adjust to minor changes in temperature so there is no need to panic when the wind changes or the out-of-doors, temperature fluctuates.

AT ANY RATE thermophilliacs claim they are unable to stand the heat or cold. They go through all kinds of gyrations to combat the ensuing complications. In addition, they love to discuss their problem and get others involved in their neurotic behavior.

The nursing baby may be able to detect breast cancer at an early stage. Dr. Harry S. Goldsmith of the Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center confirmed this theory in four lactating mothers when the baby refused milk from the involved breast. He called the phenomenon the "milk rejection sign."

IN SOME INSTANCES the babies had been nursing from both breasts and suddenly refused milk from one side. This in not the same as when the breasts are normal and the child prefers one to the other. It is assumed that the liquid is refused because of a change in taste, odor, or consistency. In all probability, the tumor blocks the milk ducts causing stasis and infection. One mother dicovered a lump six weeks after the child refused to nurse from the involved breast.

A few cancers have disappeared spontaneously. The phenomenon is as rare as it is puzzling but enough cases have been reported to fill a book. Spontaneous regression, as it is called, may stem from the body's defenses or, perhaps the tumor outgrows its blood supply and dies from malnutrition. Good health seems to carry some sort of immunity to cancer.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ADHESIONS

N. P. writes: If a person is operated on for adhesions due to previous surgery, will more follow a second operation to correct them?

REPLY

Yes, but there is a good possibility that the new adhesions will not prove troublesome. Adhesions are scar tissue and it is difficult to do an operation without leaving a few of them. The lesions, however, usually escape detection unless they kink or obstruct the intestine. When this occurs, surgery is necessary.

SWOLLEN ABDOMEN

M. L. W. writes: What has the liver got to do with swelling of the stomach?

REPLY

Blood from the abdomen and lower extremities passes through the liver on its return to the heart. In cirrhosis of the liver, the flow of blood is blocked and the ensuing congestion causes fluid to accumulate in the abdomen and, to a lesser extent, in the lower extremities.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

M. H. writes: I know two people who had nervous breakdowns. Both had similar symptoms, yet one was given shock treatment and the other was not treated in this way. Why?

REPLY

INCISION CLOSURE

N. F. writes: Is a suture the same as a stitch?

REPLY

JOB ABROAD—Phyllis J. McKillop of San Francisco, former San Rafael resident, has received a two-year Foreign Service assignment as a communications and records clerk at the U.S. Embassy in London.

Lagunitas Home Hit By Burglars

The rented Lagunitas home of the "Citizens for Interplanetary Activities" was burgled during the past several days, sheriff's officers reported yesterday.

The landlady, Mrs. Sarah F. Paul of Spring Road, Lagunitas, told deputies entry was apparently through an unlocked upper window while the five "citizens" were away. Taken from the house, also on Spring Road, were a $200 tape recorder and 16 drawing plates for printing, she said.

Seymour Boorstein of 45 Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield, told officers Saturday that someone entered his unlocked home and made off with over $14 worth of coins from the collection of his son, Neil, 10.

A construction worker told deputies he saw a youth aged about 13 leave the unlocked home of Rochester F. Nettles at end of Roosevelt Avenue, Santa Venetia, last Thursday. Officers said the youth apparently took $2.50 in change and a knife.

Donald D. Palmer, 813 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, reported Sunday that his home was entered by forcing a bedroom window, and one room was ransacked, but nothing was believed to be missing.

The first parking meter sytem was begun in Oklahoma City in 1935.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Maker Questions Net Programming

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A well-known manufacturer of television sets has started a controversy in the video industry about the quality of network programming.

The fuss began several weeks ago when Ross D. Siragusa, chairman of the board of Admiral Corp., told a sales convention in Las Vegas that his firm would temporarily discontinue advertising on television networks. The reason:

LACKLUSTER

"Because we have been so disappointed in the lackluster quality of some network television shows and the preponderance of network commercials and local spots."

Siragusa added that Admiral would "invest a proportionately larger amount of our budget in newspaper advertising this fall."

In addition, he noted "Television viewers today are more sophisticated and more selective than ever and the mere fact that a TV program is in color is no guarantee of success." He also said "It is in Admirals interest to try to influence the broadcasters to improve their product."

POSITION IGNORED

Admiral's critical position was, of course, rejected by the Radio Corp. of America, which in addition to being a major manufacturer of television sets, owns the NBC-TV network and has been a pioneer in color programming. One of the big NBC-TV sales points has been that shows in color draw bigger audiences on the whole.

Meanwhile, a trade publication, Television Digest, had this comment for the Admiral position in its June 5 issue:

THE QUALITY

Home furnishings Daily, a Fairchild publication, quoted a high Zenith official as saying: "We are not happy with the quality of many programs, but there are also many good programs to be seen. We plan to have a strong advertising campaign on television. I feel television manufacturers have a responsibility to support the TV broadcasting industry through advertising."

To this observer, it would seem that although Admiral certainly has its points regarding commercials and the general run of series—which are indeed poor—there has also been a worthwhile revival of drama and other quality specials in the past year or so.

Story-Telling Set For Library

Plans for a story-telling program at San Rafael Public Library this summer were outlined Monday night to the San Rafael Library Board.

The program will be from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. July 11, July 25 and Aug. 8 for pre-school through fifth grade children, head librarian Vivian Smith said.

The board approved closing the library July 3 and 4.

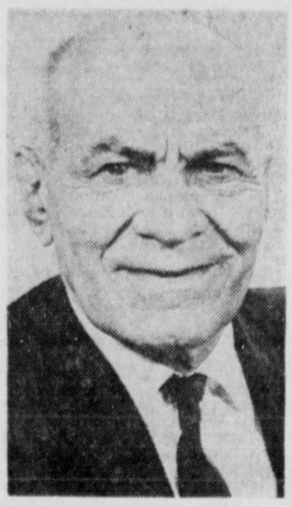
Manual Dos Reis, San Anselmo Postmaster 32 Years, To Retire

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Manuel Dos Reis Jr., San Anselmo postmaster for 32 years, announced today that he will retire June 30.

The rapid-speaking Dos Reis, who wears a black suit and carries a cane, has been with the post office from its old building on Tunstead Avenue to its new building on San Anselmo Avenue.

He has gone from the days of penny post cards to the four-cent type and from the day of pushing a two-wheel cart three times daily to the Northwestern Pacific Railroad depot for pickups and deliveries to truck pickups and deliveries at the post office door.



MANUEL DOS REIS
Retiring after 32 years

BEST SERVICE

"The most pleasant thing about the 32 years," said Dos Reis, "is feeling that I was giving the people the best mail service possible."

On retirement, the postmaster said, "I plan to finish a home which I have been building on weekends at 171 Crescent Road. It's on the lot behind my present home."

Dos Reis started out in the building business. When that business slowed down during the depression, he decided to accept a post office commission and began as postmaster. Since he was then a San Anselmo city councilman, he had to resign that post.

RECEIPTS UP

"When I started," Dos Reis recalled, "total receipts at the post office were $14,000 a year and we had two clerks and three carriers. Now we're doing $190,000 a year in receipts, have 12 routes and a carrier and clerk complement of 35. We're now looking for larger quarters."

During his career, Dos Reis met Franklin Delano Roosevelt when he was president, John F. Kennedy when he was a congressman and seven postmaster generals.

The 69-year-old postmaster tells of the time when the creek flooded, running six inches of mud and water into the old post office.

WORKED ALL NIGHT

"I spent the whole night picking up forms and mail sacks and putting them on tables. My wife, Frances, helped me. Then we sat on top of the tables until 6 a.m. when the tide went out. All the employees lived across the creek so they were unable to relieve me until 7 o'clock.

"Then I went home and changed clothes and came back to fingerprint aliens."

Dos Reis said this was in 1942 and, on an emergency basis, during World War II, he fingerprinted about 1,800 aliens.

The postmaster related that during the war, too, it was hard to get help so he hired two women carriers. Women carriers are common now, he said.

Dos Reis, with his wife, made 26 trips "back east" to attend postmaster conventions, sometimes giving talks, he said, on the postmasters' publication, California Postmaster, which he edited for 12 years.

SOME GARDENING

Besides building on his house, Dos Reis said he will do some gardening and he plays a bit on his saxophone. "I once organized an orchestra for an Al Smith's presidential campaign," said he.

An acting postmaster has not yet been named, said Dos Reis.

Payment Accepted In ABC Suspension

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state department of alcoholic beverage control announced it has accepted payment of $470 from Jess G. Fisher, in lieu of a suspension of his on-sale general liquor license at the Black Point Inn, 10 Grandview Avenue, Novato.

The licensee was charged on March 30 with 10 counts of sales to minors and permitting minors to consume.

San Rafael Sewer Grant Is Uncertain

San Rafael Sanitation District —which has applied for $84,000 in federal funds to help finance a $280,000 expansion of its main sewage treatment plant — may have to go it alone.

The state Water Quality Control Board, in charge of allocating federal grants, has announced that it has $13,637,000 to allot among 154 California communities seeking $45,172,000 for construction of sewage treatment facilities. And of that $13.6 million, over $3 million has already been earmarked for carryover projects, a board spokesman reported.

The board was to meet this afternoon in San Francisco to assign priorities to the projects calling for federal aid.

Norris M. Rawles, San Rafael district administrator, said yesterday San Rafael is "'way down in priority" and any assistance appeared unlikely.

"We still hope to be able to finance it ourselves," Rawles said. He noted that in submitting the preliminary budget of $731,554 for next year the expansion project was included without expectation of federal aid. That will be decided at the district directors' final budget session July 6, Rawles said.

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The 67th United States Open Golf Championship begins tomorrow with commuting Arnold Palmer the favorite and—for the first time in a decade—Ben Hogan something more than a sentimental choice.

The possibility of a future players strike was the only disturbing note as the field of 150 of the world's best golfers—135 pros and 15 amateurs—put the finishing touches on their preparations today.

Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner was a 6-1 choice to tame the plush, 7,022 yard Baltusrol Golf Club course that carries a demanding par 70.

The muscular millionaire was relaxed, cheerful and joking after commuting by private jet to his home in Ligonier, Pa. for the first two days' of practice.

"The only thing I really need work on is my short game," he said, then grinned. "You know, the short irons and chipping. And my driving isn't too good. Any my putting needs help. Other than that I'm in good shape."

He said that the course "is so good, so fair, that any one of a number of players could win it. Maybe 30. Maybe even 50."

The odds-makers, however, listed defending champion Billy Casper and two-time former champion Julius Boros the second most likely to succeed at 8-1.

Grouped at 10-1 were Jack Nicklaus, who is trying to work his way out of a slump; Gary Player, the little South African who won in 1965, and Frank Beard, a young, Louisville, Ky. pro who has won two tournaments this year and is one of the hottest players on the tour.

Hogan, the 54-year-old marvel of another golfing age who has won four U.S. Opens, is listed at 12-1 with Masters Champion Gay Brewer and colorful Doug Sanders.

"I think I can win it. I really think I can," said Hogan, who has played more—and better—this year than he has in many seasons. He has finished third in two tournaments and was among the top 10 at the Masters.

"If he wins here," said Palmer, "he's going to have to do some putting. The greens are big and fast. The tournament will be won by a man who can do some putting and who has patience.

"Sure, I want to win it. That business last year may have given me some incentive, maybe. I want to prove that I can win it."

The reference was to Palmer's collapse in last year's Open at San Francisco when Arnold led by seven strokes with nine holes to play. He blew the lead, fell into a tie and eventually lost a playoff to Casper—one of three Open playoff losses he has suffered in the last five years.

Casper, the one-time fat man who has trimmed down to 175 pounds, has been away from the tour for two weeks.

"It's just like it was last year," Casper said. "I took two weeks off then, too. Now I'm just trying to play my game into shape. I'm playing about as well as I did at this stage last year."

Boros, 47, is having one of his best years ever. He has won three tournaments this season, including last week's Buick Open. He is second to Palmer in the current money winnings with $83,790.

He said he doesn't have a chance—but he said it with a smile.

"I'm too old," said Boros—who already has disproved it once. He was the second oldest man to win it when he turned the trick in 1963.

The field will be cut to the low 60 and ties after Friday's second round. The final two rounds are scheduled for national television coverage. ABC-TV will screen the tourney 3-4:30 PDT, Saturday and 3-5 p.m., Sunday.

Should a playoff be necessary, it will be over 18 holes Monday.

JIM MURRAY

Golf's Elite May Walk A Fairway Picket Line

Ordinarily, when you think of guys going on strike, you think of the night shift at the River Rouge, or the 16-hour-a-day girls at the treadles of a sweat shop, the migrant pea pickers, or the silicosis shift in the coal mines.

BUT THE GANG that's going to hit the bricks this week are guys who work only three hours a day, four days a week, and sometimes only two. All they do is lift a 2-pound steel shaft, and strike a 4-ounce ball 72 times a day.

They don't do this in a soot-filled factory, they don't bring their lunch pails, they're out in the fresh air and sunshine, with birds in the trees and running brooks in the fields and heavenly breezes overhead. If they don't smoke, they go home healthier than they left it. The only occupational hazard is poison ivy. It's in their contract they get to play golf every day of the year if they want.

They Don't Seem Underpaid

Are they underpaid? The best of them has made $99,223 already this year. Another has $85,581.48. Thirty of them have earned more than $20,000 in less than six months. Their union is so strong you have to go to their school and pass a stern physical and moral test to get on the waiting list.

Samuel Gompers would roll over in his grave, but America's most pampered labor force is about to strike for better working conditions.

WE REFER, OF course, to the professional golfers who are gathered at Baltusrol for the National Open this week and who have given their quasi-employers, the Professional Golfers Assn. of America, until tomorrow to meet their demands, or they will not show up for work at the PGA's own tournament in Denver in July. Since the PGA has already pocketed $240,000 in TV fees for this tournament, and can hardly hope to keep it if they show with a field that looks like a 10-handicap flight at the Greengrocers' Tournament, the workers are dealing from a position of powerful economic leverage.

THE BASIC PROBLEM is that all golf is divided into two parts—the touring pros and the home pros. The PGA undertakes unrealistically to rule for both. It's an unworkable arrangement, particularly since the PGA executive directorate contains only one touring player and is run by a weekend player more at home in the corridors of government than a fairway and by 13 other guys who couldn't make the cut at Tucson anymore.

Frank Sinatra Triggered It

Who has triggered the threatened walkout is, of all people, Frank Sinatra. Frank wants to put on a second tournament in Palm Springs next year and the players want to play in it. The PGA executive committee vetoed it.

BUT THIS is just the immediate excuse. The players feel that, for years now, the PGA has double-bogeyed the tour but that this time they really drove it in the rough. The players now want to move into their own front office in force.

This is not a gripe by a few malcontents or a move by the "rabbits" of the tour. Golf's elite is represented in the 120 signatories to the ultimatum to the parent body—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, every birdie-shooter on the tour.

MANAGEMENT HAS hit back hard. Each player has been sent, in effect, a loyalty oath to sign. "I will pledge to play in the PGA Tournament or face the immediate loss of playing privileges." The PGA has even threatened the Ryder Cup team by noting that any member not signing the pledge at once will be removed from that team. In short, a lockout.

Knotty Problems At Issue

It promises to be the thorniest sports squabble since the Dempsey-Tunney Long Count. At issue are such knotty problems as: Will the lesser players who do not honor the strike vote and tee it up in the PGA at Denver be called "Scabs," and get their tee shots kicked in the rough by labor sympathizers? Will the friends of labor cough on their backswings? Stomp on their fairway lies? Will their caddies give them the wrong line on 10-foot putts?

ARE THE STRIKERS heroes in the mold of Eugene V. Debs and the Molly Maguires? Or are they just Communists in alpaca sweaters?

Where does Bobby Kennedy stand in all this? Will Jimmy Hoffa win the Vardon Trophy? Will the British Ryder Cup team cross the picket lines? And why doesn't President Johnson DO something? At least summon ex-President Eisenhower to the White House for a briefing. Like, "First of all, general, what is a bogey? and where should the 'V's' point at address? Should we declare Arnold Palmer an essential industry and send the troops in? How about Ben Hogan for Secretary of Golf? And is Gardner Dickinson Jr. now the pro from the CIO?"

LEAPING THROW — Houston Astro shortstop Sonny Jackson leaps high to avoid sliding Giant Tom Haller on a force play at second base last night in Houston. (AP Wirephoto)

Perry Gets Call Tonight

HOUSTON (AP)—It took the 10th inning heroics of Willie Mays' seventh career grand slam homer for the San Francisco Giants to overcome the Houston Astros last night 6-2.

It took Jim Ray Hart's solo homer in the eighth to tie it up at 2-2 and give Willie the chance to belt his 550th homer in a 15-year Giant career.

In the third series game tonight Gaylord Perry (5-5) will oppose Houston's Don Wilson (2-3). Gametime is 6 o'clock PDT.

GIUSTI HOMERS

Dave Giusti, young Astro hurler, made it a personal struggle with the Giants by clouting a two-run second inning homer for a 2-1 Houston lead.

The fourbagger was Giusti's first this year and the second of his career. It came after Hal Lanier at shortstop let Bob Aspromonte get on base by bobbling a ground ball.

Lanier had driven in the Giants' first run with a two-out single scoring Hart. Hart had singled and reached second on Aspromonte's throwing error.

Giusti gave up 10 hits and was in trouble often. But he seemed on the way to victory until Hart's eighth inning blast tied it at 2-2.

Mays, who rested out of the lineup in San Francisco's 5-2 loss Monday night, was called on as a pinch hitter in the sixth with the bases loaded and one out. Willie failed totally, grounding into a double play.

CAME THROUGH

He didn't fail, however, on his chance in the 10th. In the inning Giusti faltered by walking Tom Haller and giving up a single to Willie McCovey.

Barry Latman relieved Giusti and struck out Hart. But Jim walked and the bases were loaded. Mays slammed Latman's first pitch into the far reaches for his first grand slammer since 1962.

Mike McCormick, who shut out the Astros over the final four innings, took his fifth win in eight decisions. Ron Herbel, who relieved starter Joe Gibbon in the fourth, smashed a double but was thrown out trying to stretch the fourth hit of his career into a triple.

Writers Urge Ike To Help In Golf Feud

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Former President Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, an avid golfer, was urged by the nation's golf writers today to set up a committee to help resolve the dispute between the touring pros and the Professional Golfers Association.

The Golf Writers Association of America, at its business meeting, passed a resolution asking that General Eisenhow set up a committee of prominent men in the sport for the task.

The pros are threatening to boycott the PGA and set up an association of their own unless they are given greater control of their $4.5 million tour. (Story on page 42.)

Top Stars Enter Tennis Tourney

Some top names have signed up for the doubles division of the National Men's 35 Hard Court Tennis Championships slated for the Mill Valley Tennis Club June 21-25.

Heading the list are the top men's team in the country—Milt Richardson and Merrill Ehmke. Also entered are Don Jacobs of Berkeley and Clint Arbuckle of Indiana, Joe Woolfson and Jack Darrah, Vladimir Petrovic and Ed Kauder. San Diego's Don White and Eldon Rowe and twin brothers John and Rupe Ricksen.

AMATEUR STAND SOFTENS

But Are Pros Interested In Open Tennis Tourneys?

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Lawn Tennis Association, long a foe of open tennis tournaments, has softened its stand—but are the professionals interested?

That is the big question as the USLTA directed its two voting delegates at the International Lawn Tennis Federation meeting in Luxembourg July 12 that they were free to vote as they wished on the touchy subject.

But sources close to the touring pro tennis players said they probably would not be interested in competing against amateurs unless the prizes were worthwhile. Pros and amateurs regularly compete in open golf tournaments, such as the United States Open, which starts tomorrow at Baltusrol in New Jersey, or the Masters in Augsta, Ga.

The USLTA held a special meeting here and voted by a substantial majority that Robert J. Kelleher, Beverly Hills, Calif., the president, and Lawrence Baker, New York, were to go "uninstructed" to Luxembourg.

"I have always been characterized as being for open tennis," said Kelleher. "I have always felt it would come some day. It was not a question of whether but of when.

"Mr. Baker would be characterized as not being for open tennis, but this year he has an open mind. We are going to do something for United States tennis."

England has already asked the ILTF for permission to stage one open tournament as an experiment and Australia has asked the ILTF to grant each member nation permission to stage one tournament.

"We want to be able to discuss and consider open tennis proposals at this ILTF meeting and to decide on merit any suggestions or proposals that come up," Kelleher declared.

The action taken at the special meeting here in effect rescinds a strong resolution passed Feb. 2, 1963, in which the association "declares on records its opposition to the principle of open tennis and instructs its officers and its delegates to the ILTF to oppose any change in the rules of the ILTF which permit the holding of open events . . ."

Many tennis experts believe open tennis tournaments at famous arenas such as Forest Hills and Wimbledon would give the sport a tremendous shot in the arm.

Biggie Today For Stanford

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Arizona State's talented 50-game winners will challenge No. 1-rated Stanford tonight in a showdown of unbeaten teams in the 21st College Baseball World Series. It's far more than Arizona State Coach Bobby Winkles expected before this season.

"Back in March, I didn't think we'd get this far, but I thought Stanford might," said Winkles, who lost five players from his 1966 club to $165,000 in pro bonuses.

The winner of this big one at 8:30 p.m., CDT, will have the inside track to the NCAA crown and ASU's No. 3 pitcher looks a little better than Stanford's third man.

LEFTY VS. RIGHTHANDER

In the other third-round games, Houston will start Carroll Moore, 3-1, against Boston College's Bill O'Brien, 7-4, at 2 and Auburn will send George Simmons, 1-0, against Rider's Larry Mischik 7-2 and 1.47, at 6. The losers will be eliminated.

Rose will be the third consecutive outstanding sophomore starter for Dutch Fehring's 35-4 Stanford team in the tourney. But the key man so far is an almost forgotten senior, Daro Quiring, who stopped an Auburn rally in the sixth and saved Sandy Vance's 11th victory, 6-3. Mark Marquess belted a triple and two singles for Stanford.

Arizona State moved up with a three-hour 8-1 romp over Boston College as Tom Burgess pitched a four hitter and batted in three.

SLIDER

Burgess has relied on his effective slider in compiling a 15-3 record. He labored through eight walks and 13 strikeouts in this one and Winkles is worried this may hurt him later here.

Rider and Houston are alive largely because of two hot hitters, one ignored in the pro draft, the other a prime target for scouts here.

Houston's big Tom Paciorek has a homer, triple, double and single in two games. But the Houston singles hitters fueled a three-run ninth which eliminated Ohio State's defending champs 7-6. Ken Hebert tied it, beating out a grounder with the bases loaded, then G. J. Cantu's single won it.

Rider's Ron Mohr, 5-for-8 in two games, beat Oklahoma State 3-1 with a triple and doubel and threw a runner out at home. John Merten held the Big Eight champs to just four singles, making his record 9-1.

Giants Sign No. 1 Draft Selection

The San Francisco Giants said yesterday they signed their No. 1 choice in the recent special major league draft—Bob Fenwick, 20, shortstop for the University of Minnesota.

Carl Hubbell, director of the Giants' farm system, said Fenwick was assigned to Decatur of the class A Midwest League.

Fenwick, son of a missionary, was born in Okinawa. He previously was drafted by the Chicago White Sox but, unsigned, went into the special draft. He's a right-hander.

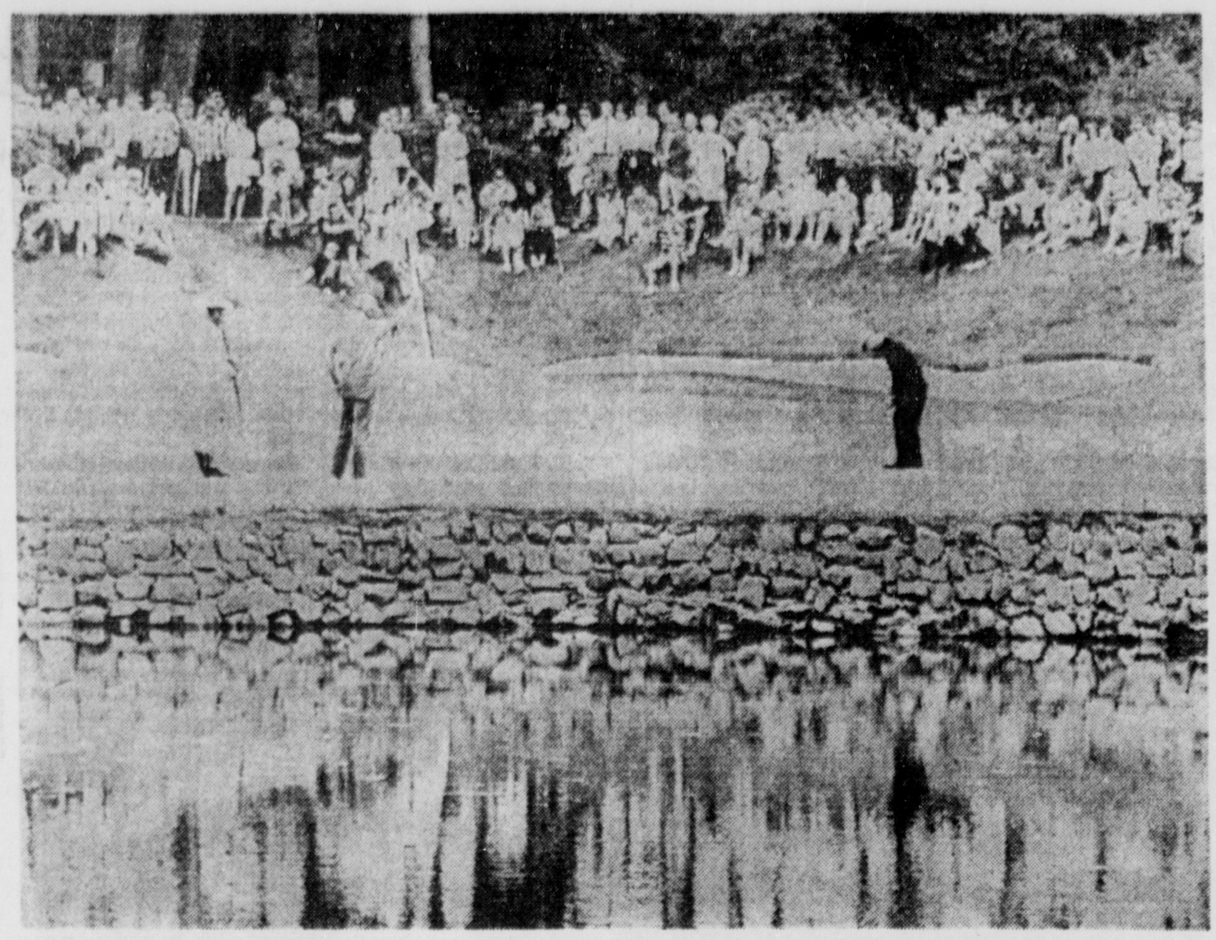
Mrs. James Calvin Wins Tournament

Mrs. James Calvin took the Las Gallinas Golf Club's low net tournament yesterday with a 72-14—58.

Tied for second were Mrs. Ted Steiger with an 83-24—59 and Mrs. Bo Johnson, 67-8—59, followed by Mrs. Earl Berg, 80-20—60.



ALL IS NOT CALM—Although things look calm on the picturesque fourth hole of the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield, N.J., as Ben Hogan gets set for a practice putt, a storm was brewing between golfers and officials of the PGA. (UPI Telephoto)

Professional Golfers Ready For Showdown Over Dispute

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros added their names today to the protesting petition and a player tournament committeeman said all name golfers were ready to revolt unless their demands were met by the Professional Golfers Association.

"We now have every known player on the petition except Bill Casper and Doug Sanders," said Doug Ford. "Both of them have told us privately that they are in sympathy with our stand. We are now ready for a showdown."

Ford, a member of the four-man players tournament committee, said Palmer, the game's leading all-time money-winner, and Boros, two-time National Open champion, had affixed their names to the petition.

150 PLAYERS

"We now have 150 players on the paper demanding a stronger voice in the conduct of the tour," the veteran New York professional, a former PGA champion, said after an unsuccessful conference with PGA officials.

In a seven-part petition the players are demanding that the PGA Executive Committee be deprived of an arbitrary veto and that the players be given a right to schedule their own tournaments and hire the men who run the show.

If these requests are not granted by June 15, the players' petition said, the touring pros will boycott the PGA National Championship, scheduled at Denver, Colo., July 20-23.

The PGA, which has built and promoted the tour into a $4.5 million enterprise, insists it will not yield.

MEETING SET

"We have scheduled a meeting in Cleveland next Tuesday," said Max Elbin, Washington, D.C. president of the PGA and teaching pro of the famed Burning Tree Course where Presidents play.

"We refused to sit down with five or six players. We want to talk with all of them. We feel that many of the players are under a misunderstanding on what is taking place.

Gales Tie New York Soccermen

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Skyliners are three for six in United Soccer Association play and just barely managing to stay out of the Eastern Division cellar.

The skyliners' ability to advance has been achieved without benefit of victory. New York tied San Francisco 2-2 last night for its third deadlock since the USA began professional competition in this country.

San Francisco moved into a second place tie with Vancouver in the Western Division with its first tie of the season. The Golden Gate Gales offset an early goal by New York's Oscar Martirena on tallies by Kees Aarts and Rene Pas.

San Francisco Fans Now Use Brown's Nickname

HOUSTON—Ollie Brown doesn't look kindly on Claude Raymond. Only a month has passed since Raymond fired a fast ball that hit Brown on the jaw. A month isn't sufficient time to forget such an incident.

Maybe when the memory of the frightful experience fades, Brown might even consider thanking Raymond for shaking him out of a somewhat complacent attitude toward major league baseball. Brown already has exacted his revenge fro mthe hard throwing Astro relief pitcher.

Two days after he was felled May 12 in Candlestick Park by Raymond, Brown belted a two-run homer off the Astro righthander with two out in the 10th inning for 4-3 Giant victory and four-game series sweep of the Astros in their first 1967 visit to Candlestick.

THAT WAS BROWN'S No. 1 homer this year. Ever since he has been whacking the ball as he once did in the minor leagues. Brown now appears definitely on his way to major league stardom.

In the one month period from May 12 to June 12, Brown has run his home run total to 11 and his RBIs from 3 to 27. His spectacular hitting over this period stirred the Giants from a second division lethargy into a first division drive.

AND BROWN'S defensive play in right field has been so polished that enemy runners hesitate taking an extra base on him. They respect his throwing arm.

Usually when a batter is beaned, retaliation customarily is exacted by one of his own pitchers. It isn't often that the beaned batter himself gets an almost immediate opportunity to exact his own revenge as Brown did in dramatic fashion against Raymond.

"DOWNTOWN BROWN" was what Fresno fans called Brown when he played Class A ball three years ago for the California League farm team of the Giants. Brown did hit them downtown in Fresno. In 1964 he belted 40 homers and drove in 117 runs.

Pacific Coast League fans saw Brown for the first time in 1965 and readily agreed that Fresno had properly nicknamed him. He hit them downtown, too, at Tacoma. His 1965 PCL homer total was 27 and his RBIs 81.

BUT IN HIS FIRST major league campaign last year, Candlestick Park fans couldn't go along with the "Downtown Brown" nickname. Of course, Candlestick's stiff left-to-right winds didn't help Brown's righthand swing. Still he didn't hit many homers elsewhere, either. He finally wound up the 1966 season with a disappointing .233 average that included seven homers and 33 RBIs.

However, Candlestick fans now have wholeheartedly adopted the "Downtown Brown" handle for Ollie. They started calling him Downtown when he hit that momentous revenge homer off Raymond.

Silly 15-Run Inning Without Benefit Of Extra-Base Hit

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Making a little go a long way is nothing to be ashamed of, but the Detroit Tigers and Minnesota Twins were stretching the point last night.

"I sat right there and saw it, and I don't believe it," said Detroit Manager Mayo Smith after the Tigers snapped a five-game losing streak by chopping and slicing their way to a 15-10 verdict over the Twins.

Fifteen runs were scored — 10 by Detroit — in an hour-long sixth inning marked by the absence of an extra-base hit.

"It was one of the worst games I've ever played in," the Tigers' Al Kaline said after what started as a pitching duel between Dennis McLain and Dean Chance turned into a Punch and Judy fiasco.

In other American League games, Kansas City nipped Baltimore 1-0, Chicago blanked Washington 6-0, New York topped Boston 5-3 and California swept a twi-night doubleheader from Cleveland 8-3 and 5-3.

The Tigers fell behind 5-1 before raking Chance and three successors for 10 runs — on eight singles — in the sixth. Detroit paraded 14 men to the plate, with the first 11 reaching base. Kaline and Willie Horton each had two hits in the inning while pinch hitter Jim Price and Don Wert drove in two runs apiece.

The Twins then batted around in their half of the sixth, scoring five runs — the last three when center fielder Mickey Stanley dropped Bob Allison's two-out fly ball with the bases loaded.

In all, there were 10 singles, five walks, one hit batsman, three errors two wild pitches and a passed ball in the full inning.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evenings stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1775, the United States Army was founded when Congress authorized the recruiting of 10 companies of riflemen to serve one year.

A thought for the day — American writer Henry Davis Thoreau said: "Philanthropy is almost the only virtue which is sufficiently appreciated by mankind."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

For example, the next time you play bridge remember that the safest time to handle a snake is after you've removed his poison fangs.

Opening lead — ♠ 2

Since there weren't enough entries to dummy to bring in a diamond trick, South lost a trick in each suit. Down one.

REMOVE FANGS

Then he can lead the ace and a low diamond.

♠ Q 9 2
♥ Q 10 5
♦ K Q 8 2
♣ Q 9 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. You plan to raise hearts or bid notrump next.

The hand is too strong for a raise to two hearts or a response of one notrump, but not strong enough for a jump to two notrump or to three hearts.

You can describe your strength by the temporizing bid of two diamonds first.

Trading Is Active But Market Drops

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed lower today, taking its first loss in seven sessions. Trading was fairly active.

Aircraft were among the weaker sections.

Slightly higher at the start, the market soon lapsed into irregularity and then into a definite loss. Analysts called it natural profit taking after the sustained emotional rise linked with the Israeli victories.

The pickup in auto sales in early June was encouraging but the rest of the economic news was neutral, not enough to spu a further advance on top of what had already occurred, analysts said.

Also active, CBS dropped a point and Pan American World Airways a fraction.

General Motors was easy.

Polaroid and New York Central were down about 3 points each, United Airlines more than 3 and Eastern Airlines nearly 2.

Allis-Chalmers Sells To Norway

MILWAUKEE—Allis-Chalmers has signed a working agreement with the Fried. Krupp Corp. of West Germany for a complete iron ore pelletizing plant to be supplied to the Sydvaranger Co. of Oslo, Norway.

The multimillion-dollar plant is scheduled to go into operation in 1969, producing 1.2 million metric tons per year.

"This is the second time this year Allis-Chalmers has successfully penetrated the highly competitive European market with a sale of its unique 'grate-kiln' iron ore pelletizing system," said E. J. Mercer, Allis-Chalmers vice president.

Record Earnings For Mining Firm

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Utah Construction & Mining Co. yesterday reported record earnings of $8.1 million for the six months ended April 30.

A year ago, first half earnings were $5.7 million. The company reported $13.1 million net income for its full fiscal year ended last Oct. 31.
